Ministers Agree on Need For German Government

Reds Ask Parley On Jap Peace Pact

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Russian news agency Tass said today the Soviet government had suggested that foreign ministers of China, the United States, Russia and Great Britain meet next January to discuss a peace settlement for Japan.

The Tass report, which was from Moscow and was distributed by the Soviet monitor here, said Russia suggested that the proposed special session be held in China provided that "the Chinese government deems this desirable."

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, said Tass, made the proposal in reply to a suggestion for a preliminary conference delivered by Dr. Wang Shih-chieh, Chinese minister of foreign affairs, through the Chinese embassy in Moscow.

U. S. TRIBUNAL INDICTS 14 NAZIS

Three Field Marshals, Admiral Among Group In War Crimes Charge

NUERNBERG, Germany, Friday, Nov. 28 (AP)—Fourteen German military leaders—three field marshals, one admiral and ten generals—were indicted today by the United States on charges of crimes against peace and humanity.

They represent the last of the important military figures in the German high command in American custody whose heads the army wants to stand trial and who have not been promised for extradition.

"The origins, developments and background of their crimes may be traced through many decades of German militarism," Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, of Chevy Chase, Md., chief of counsel for war crimes, stated in an indictment.

The defendants are: Field Marshal Wilhelm von Leeb, who commanded the twelfth army, which occupied the Sudetenland, and later an army group commander-in-chief in the invasion of France.

Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, who commanded the condor legion in Spain and later Nazi air fleet three, which bombed England from its bases in France.

Field Marshal Georg Karl Friedrich Wilhelm von Kuechler, who commanded the eighteenth army and later the army group north, both in Russia.

Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, who commanded German forces in the Netherlands.

Gen. Hermann von Hoth, commander of the fourth panzer army in Russia.

Gen. Hans Reinhardt, commander of the third panzer army and later an army group center in Russia.

Gen. Hans von Salmuth, commander of the fourth panzer army in Russia.

French Assembly Upholds Schuman

PARIS, Friday, Nov. 28 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman and his new coalition government won a narrow vote of confidence in the National Assembly early today after he promised to demonstrate, before the day is out, "proofs of the government's energy" in combating France's menacing wave of Communist-led strikes.

In winning the vote of confidence 322 to 186, Schuman received nearly 100 fewer votes than he did the past Saturday night when his appointment as premier by President Vincent Auriol was approved 412 to 184. Eighty-three members abstained from voting today. The ballot gave Schuman only 13 votes more than an absolute majority needed to sustain the government.

All but two of the opposition votes came from the Communist deputies.

The vote expressed "confidence in the government to fight by the most energetic means against the high cost of living, to assure immediately the freedom to work, to repress violence and to guarantee the liberty and security of the citizens and maintain order in the Republic."

SOVIET HEDGES ON PROPOSAL TO CHECK BORDERS

Molotov Tells Council Eastern Territory Ceded To Poles; Study Unneeded

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Russia agreed tonight, informants said, on the necessity of quickly forming a central government for all of Germany.

Russia balked at creating a commission to study Germany's final boundaries.

Over the protests of the United States and Britain, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov declared that so far as the Soviet Union was concerned, Eastern Germany territory up to the Oder and Neisse rivers was ceded to Poland and required no further study. The Potsdam conference placed this territory under provisional Polish administration "pending final determination of Poland's western frontier."

The big four foreign ministers, in the third session of the current meeting here, covered a half dozen subjects. The conference sources said the United States, Russia and Britain reached a tentative agreement that a German government should participate in any peace conference and ratify any treaty.

The foreign ministers discussed the topic after topic in general terms, overriding protests of France's Georges Bidault that the agenda was not being followed.

Despite apparent wide areas of "agreement," it was said none of the big four turned up anything new enough in their positions over those outlined at Moscow the past Spring to indicate any break in the deadlocks on main issues. The ministers are attempting to draft peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall took a slight step toward approving a more "centralized" government that the United States formally had favored, saying of Britain's proposal on this point:

"It gives more of a central organization for Germany than the proposal of the United States delegation and still more"

Two Crewmen, 11 Passengers Die As DC3 Plane Crashes in Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 27 (AP)—A twin-engine air transport carried 13 persons to death in a pre-dawn crash today as it approached the Yakutat village airport for a scheduled landing.

The DC3, operated by the Columbia Air Cargo company of Portland, Ore., crashed two miles from the mile-long airport after radioing at 4:20 a. m. for a straight-in approach. Joe Dobbin, president of the company, confirmed that all of the 11 passengers and two-man crew were killed.

Townpeople reported two explosions after the crash. They joined to form a fireball. Guardsmen rushing to the scene, and the Civil Aeronautics administration reported they found only nine bodies, although the search was continuing. The wreckage was reported "about two-thirds burned."

Yakutat is about 200 miles

Sanatoga Firemen Quench Blaze in Farm Chimney

Firemen of the Sanatoga Fire company extinguished a chimney fire on the farm of Vernon L. Rapp, Township Line road, Limerick, late Wednesday night, confining the blaze to the chimney.

Started in an accumulation of soot, the blaze broke out at 10:30 p. m. and hand extinguishers, containing sulphuric acid and soda, as well as a booster stream, were used before the building was declared safe one hour later.

"There was only about $50 worth of damage," Mrs. Rapp declared yesterday after a survey of the house. "Dirt, soot, water, chemicals and smoke made all the trouble, and the fire didn't break out into the house."

The family retreated to the part of the house closed off against the smoke, and no one had to wait in the chill night air while the firemen worked.

EMPLOYEE HELD IN BURGLARY OF LINFIELD MILL

Truck Driver Admits To State Police He Took Feed, Smashed Vehicle

A truck driver employed by Jacob K. Tringley in his Linfield feed mill has been arrested and formally charged with the robbery of the mill the past Saturday night in which $40 worth of feed was stolen and a company truck driven over a bridge.

The man, Lawrence Focht, 43, of Linfield, has admitted to the charge. Collegeville State police said.

He was formally charged with the robbery yesterday before Justice of the Peace Charles Gorman, Norristown, after being picked up Wednesday while at work.

He will be held in Montgomery county prison without bail for trial by a grand jury.

State police said Focht is on parole after serving a sentence for a robbery in Berks county about ten years ago.

The feed mill burglary was first discovered by Tringley on Sunday morning when he found grain strewn over the floor of his mill and his eight-ton truck missing.

Eight bags of feed had been taken, he found. By following the tire tracks, he located his truck dangling precariously over the edge of a bridge 100 yards away.

Police found entry into the building had been forced through a window after the door had been tried.

The fact that the truck had missed an S curve and gone off the bridge indicated that the theft had been made at night and Focht had not dared use the lights.

Focht was picked up on suspicion, police said, and after two days' questioning admitted to the burglary.

Pvt. H. L. Asper and Donald C. Beacraft investigated the case.

317 Voters Return Most Incumbents In Good Will Election

Approximately 35 percent of the membership of the Good Will Federation turned out to vote in Wednesday's elections, final figures, completed yesterday morning, showed.

Three hundred and seventeen members cast their ballots, out of 900 eligible voters.

In addition to re-electing Leslie D. Rhoads to his fourth successive term as president by 263 votes to 52 for former president Eugene M. Hoover, the Good Will members kept four other incumbents in major offices.

They are Herbert Quinter, vice president, 240 votes, no opposition; J. Ernest Spare, recording secretary, 230 votes, no opposition; Rollin H. Klink, chief engineer, 230 votes, no opposition; and Walter Reahm, financial secretary, 184, opposed by Frank Batten, 73.

Maurice Roth, the sole candidate for treasurer, polled 218 votes, while Paul Bailey was elected delegate to the State Firemen's convention in 1948, with 195 votes. Bailey's opponents were Klink, 58; James Guadagno, 30; and Walter Walski, 8. Chosen as alternate to the convention was Joseph Poley, 246, running against George Takach, 41.

The three trustees elected were Joseph Muskowitz, 242; Guadagno, 183; and Herbert Levensgood, 136. Muskowitz and Levensgood are incumbents.

Others running for trustees were Maurice Lightcap, 120; George Takach, 52; and Andrew Ciacki, 47. Poley led the list of seven directors with 276 ballots. The other six are Charles Dimino, 269; John F. Kirlin Sr., 266; William Christman, 265; Frank Almond, 259; Robert Roth, 257; and John B. Smith, 169.

Runner-up was Clarence Kiminski, who polled 113 votes.

Three Men Fined After Hotel Brawl

Three young men were fined $19.70 and costs yesterday for a fight at 1:30 a. m. in Hotel James, 643 Lincoln avenue, that broke out between two dozen glasses, a window and a window sash.

Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus, Seventh Ward, who conducted the hearing, gave them a choice of pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct or going to court on an affray charge—the legal term for a fight involving three or more. They pleaded guilty.

The three, arrested by Patrolman Paul Galloway and Motor Patrolman Thomas A. Lawler, were Leo Hudson Jr., 321 Grant street; Charles Beasley, 780 Lincoln avenue; and Luther Moore, Wilmington, Del.

All three said they were 21 years old.

CHURCHES DRAW HOLIDAY CROWDS

Protestant Services Stress Thanksgiving for Ability To Aid Starving Peoples

Thanksgiving Day services in nine local churches yesterday, the third peacetime Thanksgiving since the war, drew large crowds of the faithful to give thanks to God that America is in a position to give help rather than receive it.

In Emmanuel Lutheran church, where 400 gathered at 8 a. m., the Rev. Luther A. Krouse, pastor, said in his sermon, "We can be thankful not that we have enough to eat but that we have enough to share with others."

"We have been spared the ravages of war," he pointed out, "not because of our superiority but because we have been chosen to help those abroad."

The Rev. George A. Lineker, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, where the altar was decorated with vegetables and fruit besides flowers, told 150 of his parishioners that a faithful flock of sea gulls changed the destiny of the country.

As Columbus approached New York heading west on his initial voyage to the New World, he said, the discoverer sighted a flock of gulls going south. This led him to change his course in pursuit of land to which he knew the gulls would lead him.

Thus, he continued, Columbus, seeking gold and wealth for Spain, landed at San Salvador and left the United States to the Pilgrims who followed 130 years later. Their spiritual influence rather than a mercenary one has been a guiding factor in our history, he said.

Except for two services, one in Trinity Reformed church at 8:30 a. m. and the other in First church of Christ Scientist, at 11 a. m., all of yesterday's other Pottstown services were held in Lutheran churches.

They were at Grace at 8 a. m.; Transfiguration at 8:30 a. m.; St. James at 9 a. m.; St. John's, South Pottstown at 8 a. m.; and St. Paul's, Stowe, meeting at St. Paul's at 8:30 a. m.

Jailed Bird Flits to Freedom As Hour of Execution Nears

Old adages such as a bird in the hand . . . will meet with a cold reception from Norman Reider, 755 Sheridan street, today.

Yesterday, after dreams of sinking his teeth into a tender 12-pound hen turkey, Reider had to be content with a roast pork.

His eagle eye won him the bird at a turkey shoot the past Saturday. Thanksgiving dinner and although that same eagle eye looked and looked, the turkey was nowhere to be found.

Inquiries were made all over the neighborhood, but no one had seen the turkey. Reider believes it escaped through a loose board in the side of the shed.

Mrs. Reider, however, saved the day. Fortunately she had purchased a pork roast and it was on hand to substitute for the turkey dinner which flew the coop.

Borough officials and an officer of the Pottstown Rapid Transit company will thrash out the problem of rerouting West High street buses tonight.

Burgess William A. Griffith announced yesterday that he has called for a special meeting of the police committee for 7:30 o'clock this evening in the borough hall, and John W. Healy, PRT president, declared that he "would be glad to attend and talk it over."

Asked about the possibility of changing the route of the Stowe bus, which now runs east on the south side of West High street, a speedway that has had a bad record of accidents for the past year, Healy said:

"It is a big problem to reroute the bus lines. I can't say that will be done, but the whole thing will have to be worked out at this meeting."

At present the Stowe buses travel west on West High street in the morning, circle Stowe and return down Berks street.

In the afternoon and evening, however, they reverse their tour, so that Penn Villagers are forced to dash wildly across the seeming highway, risking their necks every time they want to ride a bus to town in the post-meridian hours.

One of the most unfortunate accidents in 1947 on the West High street speedway was caused the past Oct. 19, when a man ran for a bus and was struck down, requiring the later amputation of his leg.

Not only do they have to cross the traffic artery to board a bus, but once on the other side of the road, they must stand on an unlighted stretch of road, without the protection of a shelter or even painted lines to indicate their presence.

Speeding through Penn Village has been another cause of accidents in past months, and this second problem will be discussed tonight.

William F. Lamb Sr., president of the Pottstown Automobile club, has strongly denounced the present 50-mile-an-hour speed limit between borough line and Manawauville street, and stated that it could be reduced with cooperation between borough and State officials.

THREE AUTOISTS HURT IN CRASH AT INTERSECTION

Collision at Charlotte, Oak Street Is One of 3 in Area Over Holiday

No. 3 became a symbol of bad luck for motorists in the Pottstown area late Wednesday night and yesterday.

Three accidents took place, and in one of them, a three-car collision, three persons were injured when a car driven by Richard K. Mest, of 190 Oak street, went through a red traffic signal at the intersection of Oak and Charlotte streets, late Wednesday night.

Mest, who took the responsibility for causing the accident, told Motor Patrolmen Earl Rhoads and Stanley Boroway he was conversing with a passenger in his car as he was going east on Oak street and failed to notice the light until it was too late.

As his car crossed the intersection, it struck a car going south on Charlotte street driven by David Lucas, 138 High street. At the same time, a car driven by June A. Van Horn, 857 North Evans street, going north on Charlotte street crashed into Mest's car.

Two passengers in the Van Horn car were injured. Mrs. Mabel Van Horn, the driver's mother, suffered a possible fracture of the right ankle, while Byron S. Van Horn, the driver's father, suffered brush burns of the forehead and right knee.

Mest suffered a laceration of the left knee requiring three stitches. All three were treated at Pottstown hospital by Dr. R. A. Boykiw and discharged.

The right fender of Lucas' car was damaged and the steering gear knocked out of alignment, while the entire front of the Van Horn car was demolished. Mest's car was damaged on the right and left sides and the right front end.

Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus will send Mest a summons charging him with passing the red light.

A milk truck ended astride the culvert at French Creek on Route 100 shortly after noon yesterday when a front tire blew out swerving it off the road.

The accident occurred at 12:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon as the truck, driven by John Swartzentruper, East Nazareth, was traveling north along Route 100.

The tire blew out at French Creek between Pughtown and Flowing Springs. Heavy traffic going south along the highway prevented Swartzentruper from turning the truck to the left and he was forced to let it run off the road. It was damaged extensively as it straddled the culvert. Swartzentruper escaped without injury.

The truck was owned by Harry P. Weaver, Pughtown.

Joseph Haman, 23, of 822 Monroe avenue, Stowe, escaped without injuries shortly before midnight Wednesday when his car overturned.

Turkeys Reign on Dinner Tables at U. S. Mark Thanksgiving: Trumans at Church

By The Associated Press
Americans at home and abroad gave thanks yesterday for the nation's bounty which thousands vowed they must share with a needy world.
Thanksgiving, oldest of native holidays, was celebrated in traditional style in homes and churches throughout the land and wherever Americans gathered across the seas. But this year the old holiday was given a new theme as President Truman set aside the day for "generously sharing our bounty with needy people of other nations."
Churches were busy for Americans from Tokyo to Trieste. Queen for a day—and a busy one—was the mother or wife who prepared a big Thanksgiving dinner at home with all the trimmings.
President Truman and his family attended church services.

In the First Baptist church, Washington, before sitting down to a turkey dinner in the White House. In conformity with his food conservation program to aid overseas hungry, the President had ordered that no bread be served and the dressing mixed without eggs.
Groups of Americans throughout impoverished Europe celebrated the day with turkey—where it was obtainable. But they did not forget the hungry of Europe while they feasted.
Lewis W. Douglas, the U. S. ambassador to Britain, declared in a brief speech in London that "we can be thankful" the American people "are recognizing the distress of people in distant lands across the waters and are prepared at great sacrifice to extend supplies so needed for the restoration of the ordinary civilization of the world."
In Trieste, a trouble spot of Europe, turkey and all the trimmings were consumed by 5000 U. S. troops.

Wherever the American flag flew over U. S. garrisons and Navy ships at sea turkey was served to service personnel.
In Tokyo General Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander for the Allied powers, maintained business as usual, but he planned to return home to a turkey dinner with his wife and son at the embassy.
Typical of the American menu throughout the world was what the U. S. embassy in London served from its canteen—roast turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, mashed and sweet potatoes, asparagus, turnips, pumpkin pie, nuts, candy, fruit and coffee. To Englishmen most of the items either were rationed or unobtainable.
In the United States churches dedicated the holiday to the ideal of sharing expressed by the President. Appeals were renewed for sharing America's abundant supplies of food and clothing with the poor, sick and hungry war-torn lands.
Members of Protestant churches were asked to contribute to overseas relief through the church world service. Roman Catholics intensified their Thanksgiving week drive for 25,000,000 pounds of food for shipment to the needy of other nations. The Synagogue council of America called upon all American Jews to give food gifts to their temples for eventual movement to Europe through the joint distribution committee.
The weather across the nation was as mixed as an old-fashioned dressing.
A nearly solid covering of snow was spread over the north central states, the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence valley, and the northern sections of New York state and New England. The snow ranged from one to four inches generally, but

Buck Found Dead Near Shenkel Church

A ten-point buck weighing almost 200 pounds will supply venison for the residents of the Chester county home this weekend.
The deer was found dead in a wooded hollow on the property of Mrs. Grace Miller, Pottstown RD 1, near Shenkel church, by two rabbit hunters, Robert and David Smiley, Perkomenville RD 1.
Apparently hit by a blast from a shotgun, the deer had no large holes in it but had bled to death through the nose and mouth. When found, it was lying in a bed of grass in the hollow.
Daniel W. Guldin, North Coventry police chief, took the deer to Sam Root, South Pottstown butcher, who will clean and hold it today pending an investigation by Ralph Shank, Eagle, Chester county game warden.

Wherever the American flag flew over U. S. garrisons and Navy ships at sea turkey was served to service personnel.
In Tokyo General Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander for the Allied powers, maintained business as usual, but he planned to return home to a turkey dinner with his wife and son at the embassy.
Typical of the American menu throughout the world was what the U. S. embassy in London served from its canteen—roast turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, mashed and sweet potatoes, asparagus, turnips, pumpkin pie, nuts, candy, fruit and coffee. To Englishmen most of the items either were rationed or unobtainable.
In the United States churches dedicated the holiday to the ideal of sharing expressed by the President. Appeals were renewed for sharing America's abundant supplies of food and clothing with the poor, sick and hungry war-torn lands.
Members of Protestant churches were asked to contribute to overseas relief through the church world service. Roman Catholics intensified their Thanksgiving week drive for 25,000,000 pounds of food for shipment to the needy of other nations. The Synagogue council of America called upon all American Jews to give food gifts to their temples for eventual movement to Europe through the joint distribution committee.
The weather across the nation was as mixed as an old-fashioned dressing.
A nearly solid covering of snow was spread over the north central states, the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence valley, and the northern sections of New York state and New England. The snow ranged from one to four inches generally, but falls up to 14 inches were reported in the eastern sections of the Dakotas and northern parts of New England.

Sunny, mild weather was reported in the gulf and south plains states and in most of the Western states, although there were some showers in the central Rocky mountain states.

Travelers swarmed in and out of the cities, highways were congested. Railroads, airlines and bus companies reported brisk business as extra carriers were added to accommodate the holiday rush.

Stay-at-homes enjoyed local football games. In many of the larger cities department stores held parades for children — of all ages.

In New York City 2,000,000 men, women and children jammed the sidewalks to watch the 21st annual Macy Thanksgiving Day parade which included 17 brilliantly-colored floats and six gigantic helium-filled characters.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28 1947

A wise physician, skilled our ills to heal, is more than armies to the public weal.—Pope.

Is America Blind?
IT IS an ironic fact that American communist and fellow travelers always scream to high heaven about their Constitutional rights when called to the witness stand. They fiercely embrace the protections which the communist ideology, by its very essence, is determined to destroy.

They have, of course, a perfect right to do this—the Constitution was drawn to cedence the liberties of people of all political faiths, all races, and all creeds. But there is a grim humor in seeing it used as a defense by men and women who would destroy it.
From the point of view of the individual,
there is little difference between a communist,
a Nazi, a fascist, or a fanatical government.
Every kind of totalitarian state is built on the same set of principles. Every one of them says, in effect, that the state is supreme and that the individual is nothing. There can be no such thing as personal liberty—the right to do, think and speak what one pleases.
They are concerned with men and women only in the mass—as millions of slaves who may be used ruthlessly to advance the purposes of the state.

In this country, the totalitarian forces are small in number. But they are extremely well organized, and they are adept at waving the flag, and at demanding in the name of democracy measures which would destroy democracy. They are solidly behind every project which would weaken free enterprise, which would increase industrial strife, and which would pit class against class.
The boring from within technique has been detailed and perfected by the advocates of the super-state from Marx on down. It is an essential prelude to revolution and internal chaos which permits a "strong man" to seize power.

A nation can save itself from ultimate dictatorship in only one way—by aggressively fighting every movement which would in any way curtail economic and social freedom.
There can be no such thing as a limited freedom.
We will have all or none.
The forces of totalitarianism count heavily upon American blindness and tolerance as an aid to their work.
The American people must prove them mistaken.

Autos in Europe
AMERICAN-MADE automobiles have become a measure of prestige among government officials of Poland, according to a recent report from Warsaw.
Communist officials who get on the list for the few U. S. cars reaching the country know they are in favor with the party. Those who don't get on the list know they are on the way out.
The new Polish government has obtained cars from Denmark in trade for Polish coal.
Heads of nationalized companies in Poland pay $4000 to $6000 for a car that sells for less than $1500 in the U. S. Private buyers pay from $12,000 to $16,000, according to the report.

A British automobile manufacturer has just introduced a new model, similar to a popular U. S. make. It is smaller, has less horsepower, and is far below the luxury standards of its U. S. counterpart. Yet it will sell for nearly twice the American price.
To discourage the manufacture of luxury automobiles, Britain recently placed a 67 percent tax on cars selling over $4000. Thus the cheapest Rolls-Royce today sells for $23,000.
In contrast to America where more than 90 percent of new car production is distributed at home, Britain exports six of every 10 cars produced. Nine of every 10 cars built in France leave the country.
In Yugoslavia, the Balkans' first automobile factory went into operation recently.
Plan: call for a production of 12,000 trucks in the next five years. This is less than U. S. truck manufacturers turn out every three days.
The new plant, being operated by the government, is paying employees 25 to 38 cents an hour for a 48-hour week.

Russia's biggest motor plant, the Zis works in Moscow, has not resumed production of motor cars. It produces only one car per day, as contrasted to more than one-a-minute in American plants.
Asked by a US correspondent why more were not being made, the director of the plant replied: "That's all we need."
Such are the blessings of socialism and communism.

Don't Send Reds Supplies

To the Editor: Recently I heard a commentary on the radio revealing that our government was still sending lend-lease to Russia in the amount of about $1,000,000 worth of materials each month.
When some of the "higher-ups" were questioned about this they admitted that it was true and that our government felt a "moral" obligation to do so.
Now with all these friendly attitudes that have prevailed ever since the war ceased, with Russia blocking every attempt of our statesmen to win a peaceful peace, yet we are sending, among other things, coal, iron and steel and oil.
Yet, we constantly hear that there is a shortage of these commodities here in the U. S. and that many places will be cold this winter because of the lack of it, yet we find it being sent in no small amounts to Russia and that 40 percent is an outright gift to the Soviets.
Does it sound reasonable that we should send a million dollar's worth of vital materials each month to Russia, then turn around and send hundreds of millions to Turkey, Greece and other European countries to help them fight Communism?

There's Land in Africa

To the Editor: Instead of spending so much American money feeding the people of Europe, why not spend a few billions developing the immense continent of Africa.
Africa has more than 20 percent of the world's land, and only one-eleventh the population density of Europe. There are immense fertile areas in Africa suitable for colonization. Twenty billion dollars spent there would open up a living place for many new settlers.
Our internationalists and liberals should realize that many European nations do not have enough land to produce their food. But there is plenty of virgin land in Africa, Australia, Canada and South America.
If our peace-makers would set about opening up these places they might accomplish something toward the pacification of the world.
Pottstown T. R. D.

Snowballs to Europe

To the Editor: Until Europe quits bickering and buckles down to productive work, any aid we give would be as ineffective as "standing on the brink of hell and throwing snowballs to lower the temperature," to borrow from Upton Sinclair.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
MARSHA K., 22, is talented, attractive and socially prominent.
"Dr. Crane, I fell in love with Marsha two years ago while we were in college," her boy friend informed me.
"But she smokes a package of cigarets per day. I have urged her to stop this habit, and she has professed a desire to do so, but she never does."
"Although I am not so narrow-minded as to disapprove entirely of girls who smoke, I shouldn't wish to marry any body whose health has been harmed through smoking."
"If Marsha were to stop now, would she be a healthy mother capable of bearing healthy children?" Dr. Crane, what are the injurious effects of tobacco?"

Tobacco is not as injurious to one's safety and intelligence as alcohol, but it does have certain mental and physical disadvantages.
Professor C. L. Hull conducted one of the most thorough experiments on the effect of tobacco. He examined his subjects the first hour and a half after smoking, and found that mental mathematics, rote learning and memory span were reduced by use of tobacco.
Recent medical investigations have also shown a decided influence of tobacco in causing spasms of the blood vessels, as of the hands and feet, so that the fingers may grow pale and cold as a result of smoking.
Whether repeated use of tobacco will contribute to a permanent state of high blood pressure therefore is suggested but not conclusively proved by such temporary effects on the blood vessels.
Physicians, however, cut down or eliminate tobacco entirely in patients with various diseases of the heart and blood vessels, showing their clinical fear of tobacco.

There are two other serious disadvantages of tobacco, especially in girls and women. First, smoking has a masculine flavor or connotation.
As I have repeatedly warned you girl readers never destroy any of your feminine appeal for you become less attractive to the opposite sex.
Just as smoking is brutal and slant,
hard, lean, and masculine, so is calousness, neuroticism, depression and other un-feminine traits associated with a girl's feminine appeal, and the use of tobacco.
A sum of it, I have a girl who despised me because I smoked, and she was rebuffed by her friends, showing that some of our feminine attractiveness?

In this competitive age girls need all the feminine appeal they can produce in order to win husbands and then hold them. Indeed, a man's lack of money or a job, and other economic factors are all fighting against girls who who wear a wedding veil. With such strong opposition, therefore, no girl should allow only discard her feminine appeal to men.
Tobacco also causes its victims to have the uterus as soon as they have come without a cigaret overly long.
It also contributes to cancer of the mouth and throat as well as of the breast. Women are now showing more of such cancers, since they have allowed themselves to be the victims of our clever tobacco advertisers.
So learn to control your life by your head instead of your stomach and other appetites. Eliminate your bad habits.
Remember, too, that a typical cigaret smoker burns up more than $1 per week or $52 per year on tobacco.
If you wish my medical-psychological bulletin on "How to Quit Smoking," send a 3-cent stamped envelope, plus a dime.

Britons Resent U. S. Suggestions

By RAY TUCKER

DESPITE the promise of the so-called Marshall Plan, British officialdom and people have a mild "mad" on the United States. It crops out regularly in their newspapers, private conversations, official and unofficial statements and in political pamphlets which have recently reached this country.

The resentment is directed chiefly at the current American tendency to accompany our offer of aid, which they note has not yet arrived, with advice that England should abandon socialism.
"It is harder and longer hours,
and against our general
feeling of superiority,
Some spokesmen and publications, however, go as far back as World War I to find ground for retaliatory criticism.

War I to find ground for retaliatory criticism.

INDICTMENT: A recent document entitled "A.B.C. of the Crisis" and published by the Labor Party, contains an explanation of the causes of the island's plight, a defense of the Attlee-Bevin policies and an implied indictment of our own.
As evidence of the British attitude and as a means of creating understanding out of the misunderstanding that now prevails, a general review of the London viewpoint, as Washington grasps it, seems timely and pertinent.

PLAN: The British, surprisingly, are not counting too heavily on the Marshall Plan for relief, especially as France, Austria and Italy will get prior aid under the interim program as presented by President Truman and considered by House-Senate Committees.

"The idea that somehow or other our economic problems will be solved by the Marshall Plan is far from the truth," says the Labor document. "In June this year Mr. Marshall suggested as his personal opinion that America would only continue to supply European countries their basic deficiencies in food, raw materials and machinery if these countries pooled their own domestic resources and produced a realistic plan for general recovery."

"The nations of Western Europe,
under British and French leadership, have now produced such a plan, and the supplies from the American countries required to fill these deficiencies will cost about $20,000,000,000 over four years—if present prices fall slightly in that period."

SLAP: Taking an indirect slap at Senate Leader Taft's demand for reduction of that amount and at GOP insistence on economy and tax reduction, the pamphlet quotes a gloomy remark by Foreign Minister Bevin:
"The majority of Representatives in the present American Congress were elected last year on a programme of reducing government expenditures. So it is by no means certain that they would approve this tremendous outlay. In any case, they are unlikely to discuss the plan before next Spring, when the debate will be held in the electric atmosphere of a presidential election campaign."

PERIOD: "Even if Congress then votes the necessary dollar credits, the consequent flow of goods may not begin till Autumn 1948. It is not surprising that Ernest Bevin said at Southampton:
"I feel very much like the trade union leader going out to call a strike and wondering whether the striking treasurer will cough up the bribe pay when I have done it."

It should be noted that the Administration and key members of Congress expect the proposed aid program to be operative long before the period which the Prime Minister mentions in his remark about the "blooming treasurer."

RESPONSIBLE: In even less partisan statements than those of the official document issued by the Labor Party, British spokesmen emphasize that World War I and its sacrifices and expenditures may both before and after the United States entered those conflicts, made inevitable the current "crisis." There seems to be the implicit reminder that, before 1917 and 1941, we waxed fat while England held the tort for democracy.

They note that Britain liquidated her overseas holdings and world services which once paid for her imports of raw materials. As we may do under the Marshall Plan, her investments industrialized the United States and other countries, thereby reducing her own world markets for manufactured articles.

President Truman's sudden and unexpected termination of Lend-Lease is frequently mentioned as partially responsible for current troubles. London had hoped that those supplies would be continued through her early postwar years.

ADVICE: Even the recent loan of $3-750,000,000 is minimized.
Our insistence on the "convertibility" feature, which required England to pay colliers instead of sterling for imports, is represented as diluting her store of hard currency.

It is also pointed out that rising prices over here cut the purchasing power of the sum almost in half, foreclosing England to curtail her imports of many key American goods.

These observations are usually made in restrained language even when some of our leading members of House and Senate are the members rather severely. But it is not obvious that England can afford to regard herself as so "down-and-out" or "ashed up" that she needs aid from Uncle Sam, even though he may receive banker for half the postwar universe.

Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
No Use Being Upset

THERE'S no point to getting upset because correct bidding or play by you happens to give you a worse result than if you had used faulty tactics. Those things happen in bridge from time to time.
In fact they are the occurrences that encourage less skillful players to keep at the game. Their occasional good results against admittedly superior performers keep them sticking to the task of learning more. Were it not for that factor, many of them would abandon bridge,
and then the best players would have nobody to play with except the few others of their own rank.

Duplicate tournaments enable you to see just what others have done on a deal, therefore the results obtained by different methods. This deal got played at 4-Spades by every South, the principal bidding difference being that North bid higher than two on his first turn. The swings came because of variation in the declarer's play. In general the more efficient players made one extra trick and the less efficient two.

The first two tricks were the same everywhere. The club J was won by the A and the spade 3 led to the K. Now the lesser players, having seen the J drop, finessed the spade 9, then felled the Q with the A. Five diamonds brought discards of two clubs and a heart, South ruffed a club and a heart was led, the A winning the only trick for the defense.

The more expert declarers, upon seeing the spade J fall to the K on the first trump trick, reckoned that if West also had the Q and won a finesse he could peel off a trick each in hearts and clubs to prevent extra tricks altogether — possibly two in hearts to set it if East had the A. So these fellows eschewed the trump finesse and led to the A which set up the Q.
Then they led diamonds. On the third the club 3 was tossed, and when East ruffed the next with the spade Q the other club was discarded. Now the heart A remained the only additional trick the defenders could get, so that one extra was made. Some of these declarers stormed about their hard luck, but all in vain.

lapsed on the set of "Lulu Belle"

Flushed away with an acute appendicitis, Director Henry Hathaway

dio hospital Jimmy wishes certain

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 27 — There was talk for a while that because of its "political indiscretions" Universal-International was in a tizzy about what to do with "The Senator Was Indiscreet" despite the belief that it would be an hilarious hit. With the Thomas communism pounce on anything, and the Johnston office on the alert,
the situation might be worse,
if release of the picture were held up. Latest is that the studio will open it in N. Y.
on Christmas day. From what we hear,
the situation might be worse,

It's so funny, and Kit's comedy is so broad, that nobody in his right mind could take offense at it. Bill

Harry Fitzgerald, finished with "The Sainted Sisters" is off to La Jolla up now . . . Faith Domergue goes to Las Vegas this week for the usual reason. When she adores her husband, Ted Stauf-

Sunday night the Walt Disney studio unveiled something unusual when it presented a Hindustani version of "Bambi" which was done in Bombay, India, in the native tongue and with a native musical score. With the millions of Hindus as a potential audience, Disney believes this is one of the most interesting developments of the past decade in films.

Twenty-one-year-old Norma arms of Van Johnson at the Roller Boat here the other night, and knocked him off his feet. When he got up, he took a good look at her and said, "You oughta be in pictures." Next day he talked to director Frank Capra about her.

Result: Norma has herself a part in "State of the Union" — with Van, Spencer Tracy and Kathryn Hepburn. But it doesn't usually happen that way.

GETTING EVEN — Having learned a hard lesson from his wife on the art of hunting, Stephen T. Lloyd, Pottstown RD 2, is now bagging his pheasants from the second story of his home.

Lloyd, a veteran hunter, was out opening day of the season, tramping up and down the length of his orchards and field.
When he returned at 4:15 a.m., tired and empty handed, he was greeted by his wife, who told him she had hit a male pheasant on their lawn—from the second story window.

The shot was about 20 yards; Mrs.
Lloyd is a novice at shooting, and she used a .22 rifle, not a shotgun.

Zonal Differences Bar German Unions From Central Unity

HAMBURG, Nov. 27 (P)—Political observers here believe the efforts of the German trade unions to achieve an all-German organization sufficiently coherent to qualify them for membership in the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) are unlikely to succeed. The international trade union congress in Prague this year favored in principle the admission of German trade unions into the WFTU, but made several provisions. The most important were that the membership and office holding in those unions should be decided by democratic election, and that there should be a central body of German unions. The latter has been the most serious stumbling block. The individuality of the Russian-sponsored league of free German trade unions has been cited by West zone officials as the reason why unity has not been achieved. What they termed 'economic differences' between West and East has made federation impossible. There have been six meetings of representatives of unions of all four zones but little appreciable progress. The fifth congress failed to draw up a unity plan but appointed a working party to consider the question. That failed, too. The question was again raised at the recent sixth congress at Bad Pyrmont, in the British zone. It got no further than the appointment of a working party to prepare an all-German trade union conference next Spring. But an admission of failure on the larger question was contained in a resolution that so long as a four-zone organization was unachieved federation by two or more zones was permissible. (That gave approval after the event to federation of the unions of the British and American zones—a step described as "logical" in view of the economic unity of those two zones). The conference's sessions were in private and a spokesman answered a question about how the voting went on this practical admission of an East-West split by saying: "It is immaterial—it was a majority vote."

The agenda set for next Spring's all-German conference was to work out general agreement on the guiding principles of trade union work all over Germany, to elect a general council for all German trade unions and also an advisory council. British official observers classed this agenda as "a plus hope" and added: "it might be even more difficult to achieve after November."

Mayor Curley Reunited With Family in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 27 (P)—Mayor James M. Curley, released yesterday from a Federal prison with presidential commutation of his sentence, spent a quiet Thanksgiving Day at his home today while preparing to resume his duties as Boston's chief executive tomorrow. Reunited with his family after serving five months of a six to 15 months mail fraud sentence, Curley had the traditional turkey dinner and then cut a big birthday cake—in celebration of his 73rd anniversary a week ago today. The former Democratic Massachusetts governor and congressman returned home from the Federal institution at Danbury, Conn., last night to the cheers of several hundred admirers and the music of a small band playing his favorite tune—"Isle of Capri."

Three-Carat Diamond Stolen From Buddha

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 27 (P)—Police said today the three-carat diamond missing from the forehead of the centuries-old emerald Buddha apparently had been stolen in the past two weeks. The theft became known, they disclosed, when a false stone substituted for the original fell from the forehead and was found early this week on the floor of the temple where the green-glass Buddha sits in the royal palace. Three temple guards still were under arrest today.

25 Editorial Writers To Study Problems On Domestic Side

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (P)—Twenty-five editorial writers and editors will study domestic problems and their relation to international affairs at an American Press institute seminar beginning next Monday at Columbia university. "Last year's seminar for editorial writers was confined to foreign affairs," Director Floyd Taylor of the institute said today. "This year the program was built upon the domestic economy which is so sharp that this year's program is really a combination of both."

Subjects to be examined at the three-week seminar include: world food supply, atomic energy, national defense, housing, infiltration of government departments by subversives, inflation and the business cycle, taxation, basic problems in the American economy, and the immediate and distant future in American politics.

Guest experts at the seminar will include: Virgil Deoney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch; Philip Wagner, editor of the Baltimore Sun; Paul Trescott, editorial writer of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin; Bert Andrews, chief of the New York Herald Tribune, Washington bureau; Benjamin J. McKelway, editor of the Washington, D. C. Evening Star; Alexander F. Jones, assistant to the publisher of the Washington, D. C. Post; Marquis Childs, political columnist; James Wright, chief of the Buffalo Evening News, Washington bureau; James B. Reston, of the

New York Times, Washington bureau; and Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer.

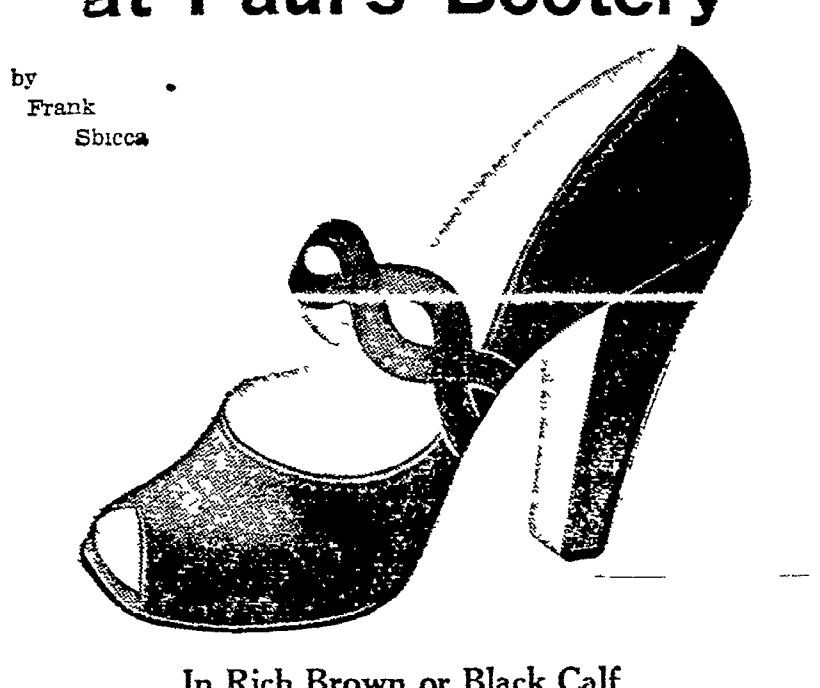

Newsman scheduled to attend include: Andrew Chasnov, editorial writer, Pittsburgh, Pa. Post-Gazette; David D. Geesey, assistant managing editor, Wil-hamsport, Pa., Grit; Jack B. Thompson, chief editorial writer, Chester, Pa.

Refugee Office Still Has Its Hands Full Tracing Lost Victims of World War II

ROME, Nov. 27 (P)—A displaced persons tracing bureau, one of UNRRA's busiest agencies until UNRRA ended June 30, still is going strong under the Preparatory Commission of the International Refugee Organization (PCIRO).

Two years and more after the final defeat of the Nazis, PCIRO recently announced, inquiries for missing adults still are being received at the rate of 60 per month, while requests that it try to locate parents or relatives of unaccompanied children average one a week.

To date, PCIRO said, 2642 cases of lost children and 16,893 missing adults have been handled.

Rains Remove Cause Of "Brown Laundry"

The "brown laundry" problem which annoyed some Pottstown housewives during the recent drought has been terminated by rains, it was agreed today by Water Department Officials.

Yellow or brown laundry stains were initially caused when a prolonged drought lowered the level of the Schuylkill River. With the river at unprecedented low levels, plus certain trade wastes, officials pointed out, the percentage of iron and manganese in the water increased. This excessive percentage of iron and manganese resulted in brown stains when laundry bleach was added to the water and in some cases certain soaps also produced brown stains.

Arrival of the long-delayed Fall rains has now brought water conditions back to normal and housewives can again use a bleach to make their white cottons and linens white and sanitary without the slightest difficulty.

If there is any question as to whether your tap water will produce a color with bleach, the following test will tell. Add one teaspoonful of bleach to a half glass of water. If the water does not turn yellow or brown in five minutes it will not discolor your laundry.

Housewives who had laundry stained as a result of the drought may remove the stains in the following manner: Soak for 15 minutes in a solution of one ounce oxalic acid crystals per gallon of water. Follow with a clear water rinse. Oxalic acid crystals cost very little and may be bought at most drug stores. Certain other compounds also give satisfactory results.—(Advertisement.)

died. Of 11,639 cases dealt with in the year from Sept. 1, 1946, to Aug. 31, 1947, "positive results" were achieved in 1257 and negative in 1056. Still being investigated were 9345 cases.

"Bare figures," the PCIRO announcement said, "can give no inkling of the romance and pathos stemming from thousands of family histories which come under the bureau's survey — the tragic aftermath of the war."

Two case histories "taken at random from the files" were cited to show how the bureau works.

In one, Nicolaus Papavasiliou of Athens sought word of his pretty daughter, Kiki, who had been studying music in Germany at the outbreak of the war. She was known to have spent a short time in 1944 as an interpreter at a DP transit camp in Italy. After that she dropped out of sight.

The bureau discovered, finally, that in 1946 Kiki had lived for some months at an Allied military camp in Reggio Emilia, leaving it without permission. Italian police records showed nothing except that the girl apparently had not left Italy. An investigator reasoned that Kiki, who was 23, pretty, and penniless, would not leave the DP camp unless she knew where her meals were coming from; ergo, she was probably married.

A search of marriage records was instituted, and Kiki finally was found living with her Spanish husband in Genoa—"well and happily married," she told the bureau in writing it for her father's address.

A more baffling case was that of Paul Buldinski, Latvia, who wrote from a DP camp in Linz, Austria, to ask the bureau to try to trace his wife, last heard of at Modena in 1945 after she fled from the Gestapo into Austria and Italy. He hoped soon to go to America, he said, and wanted to take her with him.

The woman was quickly located at the Reggio Emilia, PCIRO camp, but thereafter the bureau's repeated letters to her went unanswered. Furthermore, letters to the husband brought no replies. The bureau was about to write off the case, assuming the woman had some reason for not wanting to see her husband again, when it got word that he had left the Linz camp without leave and was at Reggio Emilia with her.

Only 129 percent of the people of India and Pakistan live in towns of more than 2000 population.

Baby Daughter With Mom Again

This scene of happy domesticity was made in the home of Mrs. Vasi Klimiades in Minneapolis. In her arms is her son, George (left), seven months old, and 18-months-old Christine. The baby girl popped into news reports when she arrived the other day from Greece unaccompanied by any of her kin. Born in Greece while her mother was visiting there, she was unable to return to the U. S. with Mrs. Klimiades because her name was not included in immigration papers.

Collins Goes Home For Thanksgiving; Alabama Drops Case

QUAKERTOWN, Nov. 27 (P)—James Robert Collins, free from the threat of returning to a prison from which he fled in 1936, today celebrated "the happiest Thanksgiving a man could wish for."

It was a festive, joyous occasion as he, his wife and two children sat down at the dining room table arrayed with turkey and all its trimmings.

But it also had its solemn moment as the family recited a prayer of Thanksgiving that the husband and father had been spared the ordeal of returning to Alabama on a fugitive warrant after building up a reputation of a respected business man in this community.

In a low, hushed voice, Mrs. Collins also prayed:

"We give our thanks for Your mercy and kindness in making it possible for us to be together on this day. We also ask Your blessing on the many friends who have helped us so much in our trouble and we thank You for the beautiful life we have known in past years."

Collins was unmasked as a former convict with his arrest on the fugitive warrant a month ago. He was freed yesterday from the Bucks county prison when Gov. James Folsom at Alabama withdrew the warrant. Under it Collins could have been extradited to Alabama to serve out a life term, imposed for his part in a bank holdup in 1928 in which a bank official was killed.

Reds Penetrate Unions in Europe, Legislator Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P)—Communists seeking a foothold in Western Europe are making their greatest inroads in the trade unions of France and Italy and in the minds of the school children of Germany, Rep. Kersten (R-Wis) said today.

When the long-range Marshall program comes up in Congress next January, he said, he will formally propose that a "substantial part" of American aid be used to support democratic trade unions in their battle against Communism.

The greatest known underwater range of mountains is the mid-Atlantic ridge which stretches from Iceland almost to the Antarctic.

Gloom to Thanksgiving Joy

Appearing rather gloomy, Mrs. James Collins and her two sons, James Jr., 9, (right), and Billy, 4, Doylestown, had their frowns turn to smiles when James Collins Sr., escaped convict from Alabama who had lived a respectable life for 11 years, was released from the Bucks county prison and returned home for Thanksgiving yesterday. He was freed after Alabama decided not to compel him to finish out his life sentence.

Spanish Official Injured in Hunting Accident

MADRID, Nov. 27 (P)—Elisimo Lamos de Espinosa, undersecretary of agriculture, was wounded seriously in a hunting accident near Quintanar de La Orden in the province of Toledo, it was learned reliably today. A discharge from the gun of Lt. Gen. Jose Garcia Valino, chief of the army staff, was

Loan of $50,000,000 Earmarked for Belgium

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P)—A loan of $50,000,000 has been earmarked for the use of Belgium over a five-year period, the Export-Import bank announced tonight.

The loan agreement has not yet been signed by Bank Chairman William M. Martin advised Maurice Frere, governor of the Belgian National bank, the funds were available.

The loan was declared necessary to enable Belgium to maintain purchase of raw materials and equipment in the United States which the Belgians must have to keep up their "high level of industrial production."

Vatican Cleric Offers Mass for World Peace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P)—A Thanksgiving Day Mass for an enduring world peace and the preservation of Western hemisphere unity was celebrated in St. Patrick's church today by Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Fred Vinson and Postmaster-General and Mrs. Robert E. Hannegan were in the congregation. President Truman was represented by White House Secretaries Charles G. Ross and Eben Ayres.

Tax Freedom for 20 Million Persons
Proposed by Members of House Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Removal of 20,000,000 persons in the lower income brackets from the Federal income tax rolls, and imposition of a 10 percent manufacturers' excise tax to make up part of the revenue loss, was proposed today by Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.).

The Californian, a member of the tax-writing House ways and means committee, told newsmen the plan "would be of greatest benefit to the poor men" and that 84 percent of 10,000 business executives polled had approved it.

Here's the kind of tax law Gearhart wants:

1. Raise the exemption of single persons from the present $500 to $1000 and of married men from $500 to $2000, with the exemption for each of the taxpayer's dependents remaining at $500. Then cut back the tax rate so that the top take from any taxable income would be 50 percent, instead of the present 86 percent on the highest bracket income. This would cut revenues by $9,700,000,000, he estimated.
2. Impose a 10 percent manufacturers' excise levy, the tax to apply to any product leaves the manufacturer to go into commerce. Food and shelter would be exempted. Gearhart said this would pick up $6,700,000,000 of revenue.

Thus the overall revenue loss would be about $3,000,000,000. Of the 48,500,000 income taxpayers, 28,500,000 would remain on the rolls with their rate of taxation reduced.

Gearhart said a nation-wide association is being formed to support his tax idea.

He disclosed he will offer his plan in the ways and means committee as a substitute for a bill by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) to cut individual income taxes by $4,000,000,000.

There was no indication now that Gearhart's broad proposal will be adopted, but Republican leaders appear to be leaning toward a revision of Knutson's proposal to raise personal exemptions from $500 to $600, thereby taking 6,000,000 taxpayers off the rolls.

Moreover, Knutson himself has said his new bill, to be offered about Dec. 13, will embody general application of the principle.

Mosley's Political Rally Ends in Fight;

British Fascist Showed Down by Crowd

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, Great Britain's pre-war Fascist who has been emerging by easy stages from his wartime eclipse, held a blitz political rally in London's East End tonight that broke up in fist fights.

Strong police details summoned hastily to middle class Wilton street, in the Bethnal Green district, arrested three demonstrators and dispersed a large crowd.

Mosley, making his second London public address within 12 days, spoke at a public school to a gathering of followers who assembled secretly. His presence soon became known to the neighborhood, however, and anti-Fascists flocked in from all directions.

After speaking briefly inside the school, Mosley left in an automobile with several husky men. The fights occurred as those who attended the meeting left the building.

The meeting was arranged so secure that few in the Bethnal Green district, where many Jews live, knew about it. But the community reacted swiftly and before Mosley had spoken many minutes there was a clamor in the streets.

Rescuers leaned from windows and shouted "down with Mosley." Then a sound truck appeared and circled the school while a voice from the loud speaker shouted "we don't want Mosley in Britain."

In the school Mosley, who announced recently he might form a new "union" political movement, told his followers that "gangs of Jews" were permitted to drive about the city in motor cars with the object of breaking up the meetings of their political opponents.

The disorders lasted about 20 minutes after Mosley disappeared. Several anti-Mosley demonstrators said they were members of the "43 club," an organization of Jewish ex-servicemen.

The three arrested were charged with using insulting words and one of them also was charged with assaulting a policeman. They will appear before a magistrate tomorrow.

UNESCO Selects Lebanon City as Spot

For Third Conference; Debate Delayed

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27 (AP)—The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization decided tonight to hold its third general conference next year in Beirut, Lebanon.

Beyrouth was chosen over Paris by a vote of 20 to 10 in plenary session of the second general conference. On Canada's motion, the choice was made unanimous.

The session postponed debate on a compromise resolution denouncing "the pernicious idea that war is inevitable" to give time for preparation of translations.

A subcommittee had presented the resolution in an effort to heal an ideological breach between the United States and Poland.

The resolution was adopted, 9 to 2, by the subcommittee. The two negative votes were cast by Poland and Czechoslovakia. The resolution was offered by France.

In substance the French resolution covered the same ground as previous U. S. and Polish proposals. Jan Dronowski of the Polish delegation made it clear in yesterday's plenary debate that it was the U. S. press he had in mind in referring to "war-mongering." Dronowski's chief of delegation, Stefan

Werbovski, said, "Liberty must be limited to avoid abuse." This statement and a line in the Polish resolution which urged legal action of the United Nations drew the fire of William Benton, chief U. S. delegate. He said the U. S. "can never agree to restrictions, repression and censorship" over the thought of men. The U. S. resolution deleted the appeal for UN action.

British Labor Party Gains Parliament Seat

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Labor party today acclaimed its victory in the hard-fought Gravesend by-election as two more British constituencies went to the polls to fill parliamentary vacancies.

The Labor party yesterday elected Sir Richard Acland over Conservative Frank Taylor by a vote of 24,692 to 23,017, to fill the vacancy of the Gravesend constituency, 15 miles east of London.

Labor thus maintained a record of not losing a parliamentary seat since the 1945 general campaign. The contest had aroused national interest and both the Labor and Conservative parties had unimpaired their big guns. Acland replaces laborite Garry Allighan, who was expelled from parliament on charges of dishonorable conduct.

Senate's Approval Is Predicted for NLRB Nominees

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Eventual Senate approval of President Truman's National Labor Relations board nominees was forecast today by Republican leaders, although action may be delayed.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the Senate labor committee told a reporter the nominations, which got no action in the last regular session of Congress, may be taken up in the special session now under way if the Senate runs into a slack period in considering anti-inflation measures.

He said the labor committee will discuss them at a meeting next Thursday.

That indicated he will raise no objections to the President's choice of former Senator Abe Murdock, of Utah, and J. Copeland Gray, of New York, as board members and Robert N. Denham, of Maryland, as general counsel.

The President resubmitted their nominations this week in a long list of recess appointments in which he filled about 500 Federal posts.

Senator Ball (R-Mich.), chairman of a Senate-House watchdog committee set up to observe operation of the Taft-Hartley act and to recommend possible changes in the law, said he would not oppose the nominations.

"On the basis of what the board members have done so far, I will be inclined to vote for their confirmation," the Minnesota senator told a reporter.

Senator Watkins (R-Utah) opposed confirmation of Murdock when the nomination came before the labor committee last Summer. Watkins contended then that his predecessor in the Senate was "strongly partisan to labor unions" and was obligated to them for support in his election campaigns.

Watkins said he did not believe Murdock would be able to administer the Taft-Hartley law impartially.

The senator told a newsman today he wants to take a look at Murdock's record since becoming an interim appointee to the NLRB before he decides whether to continue his opposition.

"I want to see just what he has been doing," Watkins said, adding that goes for Gray and Denham as well.

Senator Ellender (D-La.), a member of the labor committee, said he is particularly interested in having a look at Denham's record since he took over as general counsel.

Ellender said a Louisiana court took Denham "drastically to task" for the way Denham handled a case when he was a trial examiner for the NLRB.

"The court accused him of being biased and prejudiced, and I want some kind of an explanation from him before I decide whether to vote for his confirmation," Ellender declared.

FOREIGN MINISTERS

than, I believe, proposed by the French. It is in general detail very much in accord with the United States proposal and I think we can easily accept it in part."

The proposal for establishment of a big power commission to map Germany's future frontiers was made by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. He was promptly supported, the informants said, by Marshall and Bidault.

Molotov, however, described the idea as "premature" and declared that various suggestions for handling the problem should be given additional study, the informants said.

The Soviet foreign minister, who fought the Western powers for two days to have German peace treaty procedure put ahead on the agenda, cut off with a long discussion of the need for a central German government and put this first on his recommendations.

Bidault commented: "If we change our agenda as soon as we begin, it is not worth while spending two days determining what our agenda should be."

Marshall, Bevin and Molotov stressed the need to form a central German government as soon as possible. Bevin, however, warned such a government should be created in a way that it would neither become a "puppet" nor lead to a "dictatorship."

At Moscow the past April the big four also agreed on the necessity of a German government but disagreed on how it should be formed. Russia held out for a highly centralized semi-police state machinery, while the Western powers wanted a federal structure with guarantees for individual freedoms.

Bevin again stressed the need to guarantee these freedoms today.

Molotov, the conference sources said, made a five-point proposal in his discussion of Germany and received these replies from Marshall:

1. Prompt formation of a central German government. Marshall said: "I think we are in accord with that quite definitely."

2. This German government would be heard at the peace conference. Marshall said: "It involves the question of procedure or timing, in the main, which I think it will not be too difficult to resolve."

3. That the peace treaty be signed by a German government. Marshall: "I think we are in accord with that."

4. A decision by the foreign ministers council on the nations to participate in the peace conference. Marshall: "Requires more analysis and discussion."

(In general Russia wants to hold treaty making to 19 selected nations, including Albania, while the United States opposes Albania and wants to include all those who declared war on Germany. South American countries in particular.)

5. The peace treaty to be based on the three-power decisions of Yalta and Potsdam. Marshall made no direct comment on this proposal.

On the question of Germany's borders the big powers appeared as deadlocked as ever, the informants said.

Molotov again insisted that the Potsdam and Yalta conferences ceded eastern Germany formally and finally to Poland. Bevin and Marshall insisted equally firmly that no decision had been made on this subject and that the German-Polish boundary was subject to more study.

wife had treated him cruelly June 5 and 6. He asked alimony but did not specify the amount. Lawless later testified he and Walda never had lived together as man and wife.

She filed a cross-suit Aug. 15, 1946, also alleging cruel and abusive treatment.

On Dec. 9, 1946, Judge John C. Leggat of the Middlesex Probate court dismissed Lawless' suit and Miss Winchell's attorney then withdrew her action. The judge commented that Lawless could wait three years and sue for divorce on grounds of desertion.

Winchell said he had no idea where his daughter might be. She never has disappeared before, he said, adding she is "the most wonderful daughter in the world."

Car Rolls Down Hill, Smashes Against Tree

READING, Nov. 27—Antone Santangelo, Pottstown RD. 2, left his car by the Home for Widows and Children here this afternoon. When he came back an hour or so later, he found it 200 yards down hill, its smashed front end resting against a large tree in front of a grade school building.

He had forgotten to put on the brake.

northwest of Juneau and about 350 miles west of Anchorage, from which it had departed. It was headed back for Seattle and Portland after picking up seven passengers at Fairbanks and four at Anchorage.

The cause of the tragedy remained a mystery. The timbered terrain adjacent to the airport is moderately low, with clear approaches. The field is close to the Gulf of Alaska.

The Columbia firm is one of several that operate in Alaska and between Alaska and the states on a non-schedule basis. It has been operating since May, 1946.

"I can't fix the cause of the crash," said Dobbins, "according to the information I received from Alaska, they were coming in on the beam and following regular procedure. And then they crashed."

Two wartime pilots were at the controls. They were pilot Jay B. Haworth Jr., 26 and co-pilot T. A. Keranen, 27, both of Portland.

mander of the fifteenth army in the French campaign.

Gen. Karl Holidt, commander of the sixth army in Southern Russia, and later liaison officer to Hitler's Reichschanery.

Adm. Otto Schniewind, operations officer, chief of the navy armament office and later commander of naval battle forces in Norway.

Lt. Gen. Karl von Rouques, commander of a group in Southern Russia and later commander, rear area, of army group A in the Caucasus.

Lt. Gen. Walter Warlimont, once Jodi's deputy military envoy to Franco in Spain in 1936, and later chief of the department of national defense on the armed forces operation staff.

Lt. Gen. Otto Woehler, commander of army group south in Russia.

Lt. Gen. Rudolf Lehmann, legal counsel of the German army.

Lt. Gen. Hermann Reinecke, chief of the national socialist guidance staff of the high command.

Although their names appear on virtually every page of the indictment Field Marshals Walter Von Brauchitsch, Karl Von Rundstedt and Fritz Erich Von Mannstein were not indicted. They are in the custody of the British and it was not known here whether the British intend to try them.

The indictment charges the 14 with planning, preparing, initiating and waging wars of aggression and invasion of other countries; murder, torture, deportations, enslavement into forced labor and mistreatment of millions of persons, plunder of public and private property, wanton devastation and destruction of cities, towns and villages, and "other grave crimes."

All the defendants except Rouques and Woehler are charged with crimes against humanity, mainly in Russia.

The indictment noted that special S. S. task groups called commandos operated in support and under the jurisdiction of the German armed forces. Many commando leaders now are being tried by an American tribunal for the killing of approximately a million men, women and children in the east.

It cited 458 instances of Russian political commissars who were executed by the army in accordance with a Hitler order. It also enumerated a number of cases of American and British parachutists and uniformed members of commando task forces, executed under an army order that they "be slaughtered to the last man." The execution of 12 to 15 American prisoners of war at Mauthausen concentration camp in January 1945 was cited.

Paul Niederman of Chicago heads the legal staff prosecuting the case.

Approval Seen

Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) said yesterday in Washington that he believed that the Senate would approve President Truman's NLRB nominees which include former Senator Abe Murdock (above), J. Copeland Gray and Robert N. Denham.

are residents of the affected area, who agree that "the drivers won't give you a chance. They come tearing up and down here, and some day, they're going to come right into our living rooms."

The most recent fatalities on West High street were the past Oct. 19, when a pedestrian was struck down as he crossed the road, and the past Apr. 17, when two men were involved in a collision and died two days later of fractured skulls.

John H. Newman, of 616 Vine street, Stowe, and William H. Wright, of Pine Forge, were the victims of the accident in April when they were involved in a three-car crash, caused by one of the drivers being forced to swerve suddenly in order to avoid a road barricade.

John H. Newman, who contended that the dangerous situation must be corrected, have asked that a speed trap be set up in the area, that the speed limit be reduced, and that a police officer, of either the local or the State force, be stationed there permanently to enforce the law.

Driving west on the highway, he apparently swerved suddenly and his car rolled over, coming to rest on its right side, according to State police of the Collegeville sub-station, who investigated the mishap.

He was aided from his vehicle, which was damaged extensively, and assured witnesses he was not hurt.

Five Generations At Wedding Anniversary

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 27 (AP)—Five generations took part in the celebration of the 60th wedding anniversary of A. Moeller, 82, an army tailor, and his wife, 84, in Soenderborg, Denmark. Their seven children, 19 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, christened on the same day, were present.

She put out the miniature forest fire with the garden hose before the arrival of firemen who theorized a carelessly-tossed cigarette was responsible.

Aid Reaches Ship Adrift on Lake Erie

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Nov. 27 (AP)—The small Canadian oil tanker Bruce Hudson, drifting with disabled engines before a strong south-west wind in Lake Erie, was located tonight by rescue ships just east of Point Pelee.

Operations to get lines aboard the Bruce Hudson began immediately. The tanker, believed to be carrying a crew of 15 men, had sent out distress signals several times saying her boilers were disabled and that she was running short of fuel.

Standing by the disabled vessel were two ships, the Imperial Midland and the American tanker Rocket. The Hudson had no tow lines aboard and messages from the other ships said it would be difficult to get lines aboard while the wind and a heavy snowstorm continued.

The Hudson left Port Stanley, Ont., today for Toledo, Ohio, after undergoing temporary repairs.

Driven miles eastward by the gale in a severe blizzard, the Hudson was located after a search of several hours by the two other vessels. They had swept wide areas of the lake with powerful searchlights before sighting the disabled ship.

Police Find Nude Body Of Missing Student

WAYLAND, Mass., Nov. 27 (AP)—The nude body of a 22-year-old Radcliffe college graduate student who, Police Chief Ernest Damon said, apparently had been shot through the nose with a .22 calibre rifle bullet, was found tonight in a lane off Route 126.

Damon said Frances Flint, a Vassar college graduate, had been missing from her Cambridge home since Tuesday. The body was face upward in Glezen lane with the girl's clothes about 50 feet away.

BANDITS GET $400
MONONGAHELA, Nov. 27 (AP)—Two armed men obtained $400 early today in a holdup at the Palace restaurant in East Monongahela. The robbery occurred 45 minutes before closing time and during the floor show.

Early settlers at Cape Town, South Africa, were French Huguenots fleeing religious persecution in 1688.

Finland Says Strike by 40,000 Weakens; Communications Restored, Police on Job

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 27 (AP)—The government said tonight support for a strike of more than 40,000 government employees had "weakened" among the workers.

In a communique issued after a government committee received strikers' representatives, the administration said also that telegraph and telephone connections with almost all cities were under control and that preparations were going forward to resume railway traffic.

The government ordered police today to occupy communications offices and was reported to be planning conscription measures to combat the walkout, which began at midnight Tuesday.

In sending the police into all postal and telegraph offices, which earlier had been in the hands of strikers, the government hoped to break communications between strike headquarters in Helsinki and the provinces. The strikers are demanding increased pay.

Premier Mauno Pekkala, whose left wing Socialist Union party merged with the Communists to form a Democratic Union, declared the walkout constituted direct action against the government. He warned the strikers they risked loss of their jobs by their action.

Newsmen Say Ex-Nazis Help French Troops

By STANLEY SWINTON
SINGAPORE, Friday, Nov. 28 (AP)—Newsmen who recently visited Indo-China saw large numbers of former Nazis fighting for the French against the Viet-Namense nationalists there. The Germans fought as members of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps.

I returned a week ago from Indo-China. While I was there I saw and spoke with many of them. They frequently were wearing American-made uniforms and carrying American-made guns.

The Russian Communist newspaper Pravda of Moscow said in a dispatch from Berlin yesterday that French occupation authorities in western Germany were recruiting former Nazi officers and soldiers for a colonial force to suppress democratic "Viet-Nam" and that more than 50,000 such were in the French Foreign Legion.

U. N. ASSEMBLY BALLOTS TODAY ON PARTITION

Rival Sides Vie for Votes
In Decisive Roll-Call;
28 Nations Favor Split

By LARRY HAUCK
NEW YORK, Nov. 27
(AP) — The see-saw battle over United Nations votes on the proposal to partition Palestine shifted into hotel rooms today as supporters and foes of the plan made a final drive for backing.

The general assembly's Thanksgiving recess gave both sides a last opportunity for lobbying and attention was concentrated on 12 countries yet to commit themselves. From these dozen votes will come the deciding ballots in the final roll-call, expected tomorrow afternoon.

Argentina, China, Colombia, El Salvador, Ethiopia, France, Honduras, Liberia, Luxembourg, Mexico, Britain and Yugoslavia were those who abstained on a test vote in committee and have not declared themselves for or against.

The Arabs hoped for Liberia and the pro-partition forces led by the United States and Russia looked to Luxembourg to swing to their side. Beyond that, it was vague speculation. Most of the 57 delegates agreed that the situation was so fluid that the outcome probably would remain in doubt until final balloting was concluded.

At adjournment last night, 28 nations had come out for the plan to split the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab countries. Haiti may be the 29th. Fifteen had announced opposition. The plan needs a two-thirds majority of those casting yes or no ballots, and thus delegates headed into the climactic session with partition still short of enough committed votes.

Five nations deserted the abstention list yesterday. The Haitian delegation, a dispatch from Port au Prince said, has been instructed to vote in favor of partition, reversing the stand it took yesterday. The pro-partition bloc also won The Netherlands, New Zealand and Belgium. Greece joined the Arab-led forces.

The Philippines, which absented itself on the committee vote, also came out for the Arabs but this vote was paired off when Siam, which voted against partition in the test ballot, became "officially absent" because of the change in Bangkok governments.

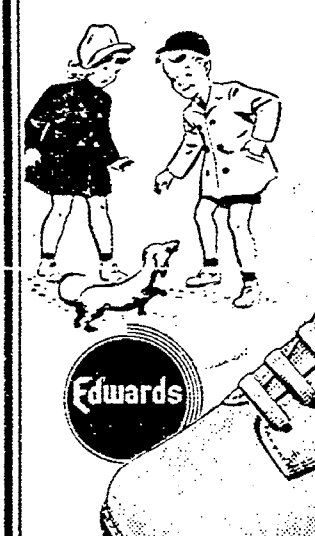

Under the partition plan the British would be out of the Holy Land by next Aug. 1 and the two proposed nations would get their independence by the following Oct. 1. A five-nation U.N. commission, backed by the Security Council, would handle the interim administration.

Father Kills Son; Shoots Self in Head

CARO, Mich., Nov. 27 (P) — A five-year-old boy was shot to death today during what Tuscola County Sheriff Julius H. Goslin described as a quarrel between his parents over plans to take the boy to his grandmother's for Thanksgiving dinner. Goslin identified the dead youngster as Patrick Fessler and said he was shot by his father, Ferris Fessler, 41, who then fired a bullet into his head wounding himself critically.

The lad was dead on arrival at Caro hospital and his father was rushed to University hospital in Ann Arbor where the sheriff said he might undergo an emergency operation in an effort to save his life.

Air Force's New Flying Freight Car Takes Off

Here's the first official photograph of the C119, the U. S. Air Force's newest cargo transport. An improved version of the C82 Packet, the new craft can carry a nine-ton payload 2000 miles or a payload of more than 10 tons for lesser distances. It is capable of accommodating 42 fully-equipped combat troops in addition to carrying 20 parachute cans of supplies for the men on board.

Bread Shortage Feared in U. S. Under Aid Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P) — Senator Wherry (R-Neb) said today he foresees the possibility of bread shortages if the $597,000,000 emergency foreign aid program now before Congress should put too heavy a drain on domestic supplies.

Wherry, Republican whip, asserted: "I would not say people will actually go without bread but I certainly do see a danger of bread shortages if the wheat carryover is allowed to drop too far."

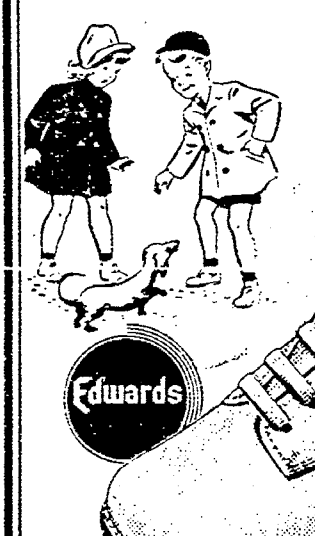

The senator is a member of the Senate appropriations committee, which has been seeking to determine the amount of wheat which can be shipped to Europe under the Senate's bill to authorize winter aid to France, Italy and Austria.

The committee heard wheat and flour milling experts testify yesterday that American exports on the scale originally proposed by the Administration, but later reduced, would cut the carryover to less than 100,000,000 bushels in the coming crop year.

"Carryover" means the amount of wheat held over from one year to another as an emergency reserve. "The fact that the Administration cut its export figure to 520,000,000 bushels yesterday is a direct result of the evidence the committee heard," Wherry told a reporter.

Representatives of major grain exchanges and flour milling companies told the committee too sharp a cut in carryover would seriously impair wheat supplies and bring the threat of bread shortages.

Ex-Estonia Officer Explodes 'Myth' Of 'Invincible' Soviet Union Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P) — The "invincible" Red army? "One of the greatest illusions of our time," a military expert who has fought both with and against the Russians said tonight in a magazine article asserting that the Soviet military force "is poorly armed, poorly equipped, poorly trained and has a low morale."

But the soldier-writer, a former Estonian army officer named Arnold Purre, declared that "the Soviet leaders, whose undisguised aim is world conquest, are making every effort to catch up with and to outdistance the democracies."

He sounded this warning in an article published by the Reserve Officer, a monthly magazine. "The Soviet Union will profess peaceful intentions only as long as she does not feel strong enough to attack. The moment, however, she feels assured of victory, she will strike. Her military power increases, surely and inevitably, with every year that passes."

Purre, the magazine said, served with the Estonian army until the Soviet occupation of his country in 1940. "Absorbed" into the Red army, he escaped in 1941 and took part in Estonian guerrilla warfare against the Soviets. Now living in Sweden, he is described as one of that country's best informed experts on the Red army.

He said Russia defeated the Germans only because Germany's troops were improperly equipped for the intense cold of the northern winter and because the Western powers, particularly the U. S., were sending supplies to Russia at the same time that they were wrecking Germany by air attacks.

Describing the German forces after 1943 as a half-starved, half-frozen, incredibly short of equipment and low in morale, the writer asserted: "It needs no great prowess to defeat such an army when one is in one's own country, eats good American food and fights with up-to-date American weapons."

Insulation Use Urged To Help Conserve Fuel
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P) — Home-owners can save as much as 50 percent on their heating bills this winter by careful furnace firing and a bit of insulation, director James Boyd of the bureau of mines said today.

Boyd said such practices will help to ward off fuel shortages which, in some areas, may become acute.

Italian Labor Group Denies Preparations For General Strike

ROME, Nov. 27 (P) — The Italian General Confederation of Labor, which is Communist-led and has nearly 6,000,000 members, denied today that preparations were under way for a general strike in Italy.

The statement was in reply to reports in the rightist press that a nation-wide strike was being planned for Dec. 1 to coincide with a similar movement in France.

In four Rome suburbs today, right-wing newspapers were attacked in what appeared to be an extension of the leftist war on the independent and right-wing press. The executive committee of the Communist party said yesterday reports of plans for a general strike did not "merit a denial."

The federation statement said that the only strike in contemplation was a walkout of city and provincial government employees but that the federation had "solicitously" intervened, bringing to the attention of competent authorities the disagreeable conditions of work.

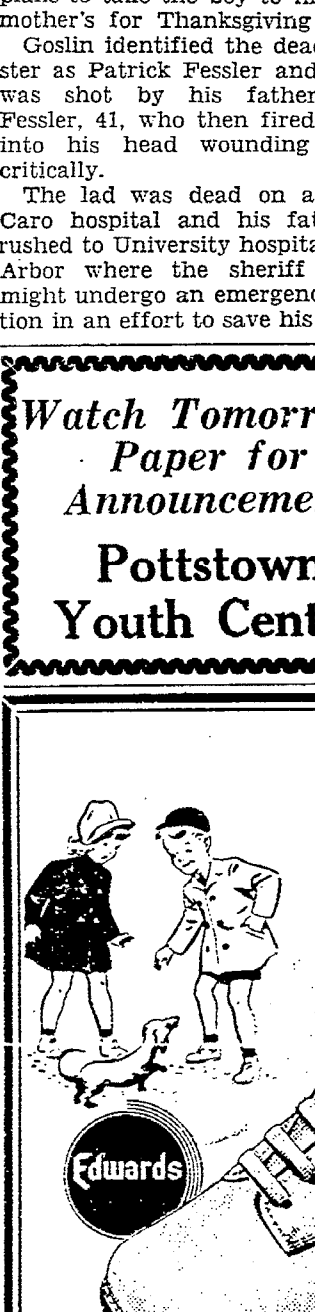

Reports in some newspapers of preparations of a general strike in the near future are without foundation and have an evidently provocative and speculative aim," the statement declared.

Senate May Extend Life Of War Probe Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (P) — The possibility of a drive in the Senate to extend the life of its special war investigating committee developed today when members of the Senate War Investigating Committee met for keeping the unit going.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the White House has asked for a list of all officers of the armed services who have been given disability retirements since V-J Day. The list was requested by Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide.

One of these officers was Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, who as a result of the Senate committee's investigation faces the prospect of court martial, criminal prosecution, and tax evasion charges, as well as loss of his disability pay and his military honors.

The committee, first headed by President Truman when he was a senator, is scheduled to close up shop Feb. 1, and Chairman Brewster (R-Me.) has stated he had no plans to ask for an extension.

That, however, was before the committee struck pay dirt digging into Meyers' wartime dealings as an Air Force procurement officer. Brewster is in Europe and has not said whether he has changed his mind about seeking additional life for the investigating body.

But Senator Cain (R-Wash.), a member of the committee, told a reporter he believes its continuation "would be a very healthy thing for this country." He added:

"The Meyers case alone merits it. My opinion is that if the committee is allowed to expire, the work it has done never would be carried on by any of the Senate's regular committees."

The committee was granted a year's extension the past January, only after a bitter argument in the Senate. Opponents contended that its work should be taken over by the standing committees.

Between 1890 and 1940 the number of American families increased 175 percent, but the population increased only 110 percent.

Global Pilots Back Value of Aviation; Study Job Offers

Those "round-the-world" cub plane pilots said today they've proved the dependability and utility of the personal "type plane."

"If we can fly the world, any person can fly any place in the United States," said 39-year-old George Truman of Los Angeles.

He and his fellow flier, Clifford Evans, 27, Washington, D. C., had a news conference before settling down to Thanksgiving turkey with friends.

Last night they set the wheels of their diminutive air cruisers down on United States soil for the first time in nearly four months after a 1275-mile hop from Lethbridge, Alta.

Neither has any plans for the future, they told newsmen, these depend on job offers, which are awaiting for them in China, India and elsewhere around the world they added. They didn't indicate they would accept any foreign offers.

After a Chamber of Commerce banquet honoring them tomorrow night, the airmen are scheduled tentatively to take off Saturday morning for Chicago.

Boyeriown Residents Receive, Purchase Christmas Seals

Residents of Boyertown and vicinity who are on the mailing list of Reading Tuberculosis association to receive Christmas seals for the 1947 seal drive for $50,000 in Berks county received the ever-welcome red-and-green sticker recently and are sending money for their purchase to the association's headquarters, 120 North Fifth street, Reading.

There is no local chairman handling the work here. Instead, Donald M. Davis, seal sale chairman, is conducting the drive direct from association headquarters in Reading.

Davis deposited thousands of envelopes containing sheets of Christmas seals into the Reading post office for mailing to residents of Berks county the past Monday. The drive was launched just three days prior to Thanksgiving day, a fact which Davis said was significant when one reflects on the important role played by the seal in saving human lives.

"We can, indeed be thankful that we have at our command such a potent weapon as the Christmas seal with which our city and county can fight tuberculosis," he said.

A return envelope was enclosed with each sheet of Christmas seals mailed out the past Monday. The seal this year is horizontal in design and shows a team of oxen pulling a sleigh-load of evergreen trees across a snow-covered field. A home sets in the background.

Typical of the work done by the association in its life-saving work was the tuberculin testing of 225 students of the tenth and twelfth grades in the high school the past September 30; the bringing to the high school of a mobile X-ray unit to photograph chests of all pupils of the tenth and twelfth grades who showed a positive reaction to the tuberculin test; and exhibition of a motion picture film to both the student body of the school and the PTAs of both the high school and Washington Elementary school. All athletes in the high school, regardless of grade, were also tuberculin tested.

Chinese Recapture Communist Base

NANKING, Nov. 27 (AP)—Chinese government forces were credited by the Associated Press with recapture of Yenling, a major Communist base in central China.

There were no details of the action 45 miles south of Kaileng in eastern Honan province, but the press hailed it as a serious blow to Communist hopes of effecting junctions of the wide-ranging Communist armies of Generals Chen Yi, Chen Keng and Liu Po-cheng in the Honan-Anhui border region.

Government troops in western Anhwei were reported to have recaptured the towns of Kwoyang and Mengcheng and to be pursuing the Communists some 60 miles southwest of Suchow, main government base in the area.

The Suchow command was reported to have formed a special flying corps of three mechanized infantry divisions to try to clear the Communists from behind-the-lines sectors in Anhwei, Honan, Shantung and Kiangsu provinces.

Meanwhile Peiping dispatches said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek conferred until midnight with leading officials on his visit to that northern capital and was "greatly concerned" with the situation in north China, where the Communists have made recent gains.

Freedom Documents Symbolize Liberty, Martin Declares

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—American historical documents aboard the Freedom Train are a "beacon of hope to the world," House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) declared today at a special ceremony held at Union station.

Several thousand men, women and children were up early Thanksgiving to stand in line for a chance to go through the red, white and blue streamlined train, which is here for a two-day stop on its 33,000-mile journey throughout the United States.

President Truman and his cabinet will visit the train tomorrow.

"It is fitting that this Freedom Train, with its exhibit of priceless documents which comprise the records of how the foundation of Americanism and free government were laid should be in the capital of this nation on this, our day of national Thanksgiving," said Martin.

In a voice that was broadcast throughout the huge station and rose above the drone of train dispatchers and the snort of engines, Martin said:

"No people in the world have ever made such progress in free government and individual liberty as has been made in America in one and three-quarter centuries since the founding fathers wrote these epochal documents."

Martin told his audience that "in 5000 years the Orient has failed to reach the richness, to acquire the tremendous productive capacity we have. In Europe the same is true."

He described the Freedom Train as "a symbol of our liberty and our richness of life, but 'not a boast of power.'"

"We must stand as a united people to stop the march of despotism across the world," Martin declared. "Any aggressive doctrine which would enslave the world must be destroyed, or else free men must fight against it until they die. Death is preferred to human enslavement."

The Freedom Train, which set out on its year's tour from Philadelphia Sept. 17, has been visited by 610,500 people thus far. It is sponsored by the American Heritage foundation, an organization of private citizens.

Sea Tragedy Takes 49 Lives; Rescuers Remove 4 Survivors

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Nov. 27 (AP)—A Coast Guard rescue party completed today the removal of the four known survivors of the wrecked Army transport Clarkdale Victory from desolate Little Hippa Island, as the probable death toll was placed at 49.

The last three survivors of Monday night's shipwreck were taken aboard the cutter Citrus. One of the trio, unidentified in the dispatch from the scene, has a broken hip. All were reported suffering from shock and exposure.

Later Third Mate William N. Rasmussen, Modesto, Calif., and Claire E. Driscoll, Los Angeles, were flown here and were taken immediately to the General hospital. They were suffering badly from exposure and injuries and were given immediate attention.

Second Mate Henry H. Wolfe,

Oakland, Calif., was being flown in another plane to Annette Island, and was to be brought here by boat tonight.

The Coast Guard also said that the after section of the ship, with a mast protruding, had been definitely located off shore from the grounded bow.

The other known survivor, who was found with them on the beach, Seaman Carlos Sanabria of Honduras, was taken yesterday to the cutter Wachusett.

Only four bodies have been recovered, two of them unidentified.

Both Wolfe and Sanabria expressed the belief the other 45 missing men met death as the after half of the ship broke off and sank. Searchers have been puzzled by the failure of other bodies to wash ashore. Sanabria said he saw several men washed overboard by the waves which broke over the sinking stern section.

Sanabria said he was washed overboard as he clung precariously to the bow section, and was carried onto the rock strewn beach. His wrist was broken.

Sanabria said ship's officers thought they were 25 miles off shore

just prior to the time the cargo-carrying ship rammed onto the beach, about 140 miles southwest of Ketchikan.

Loss of 49 lives would make it the worst ship disaster on the Alaska coast since 1918 when the Canadian Pacific liner Princess Sophia ran aground and sank with 331 persons.

Artificial Rain Saves Dominican Crops

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Dominican information center said today man-made rain had ended a nine weeks drought in the rich La Vega agricultural area and saved an estimated $15,000,000 to $18,000,000 food crop, some of which was destined for Europe.

The center said squadrons of the Dominican air force yesterday bombarded moisture bearing clouds over the area with dry ice chemically treated with a formula created by scientists of the University of San Domingo and the Dominican agriculture department.

Heavy rain lasting for hours followed the assault upon the clouds.

The operation climaxed a series of experiments begun in September under the sponsorship of President Rafael Trujillo, the center said, adding that more experiments would be conducted.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Better Lose Her Now Than Later

DISILLUSION is always hard, of course, but if a man finds out in advance that the girl he hopes to marry is not likely to make him a satisfactory wife, I should think he would thank his lucky stars. It is much easier and less painful to stay out of marriage than to get out of it.

A young man from whom I have just heard, however, apparently does not consider it a stroke of good fortune to have got this sort of line on his girl's probable success as a wife. Instead of feeling that fate has been kind enough to give him the chance to avoid almost certain matrimonial discord, he is tearing himself to pieces emotionally—because he is unable to decide whether or not to thank fate and say goodbye to the girl.

It seems to make as much sense as though he were about to enjoy a delicious-looking drink and someone suddenly told him it would poison him. Instead of pushing it away, he continues to sit in front of it, wondering if he should not perhaps drink it anyhow just because it looks so pretty.

This young man, who is 22, writes me about a 19-year-old girl whom he expected to marry. About three months ago, he says, the girl—who comes from a family in very comfortable circumstances, while his own is not so well off—suddenly told him she did not intend to have anything more to do with him because she couldn't see any future for him in the business world. He works for his father in a small business.

That ended the romance, and the two have not been seeing each other since.

And now a queer turn of the wheel of fate has put a new aspect on the situation.

"A month ago, through some miraculous luck," writes the young man, "a very large sum of money was bequeathed to me, enough to give this girl and myself not only money to get married, but for me to go into business on my own. I know I can make her happy on this amount of money."

"My mother tells me not to ask her to come back to me, because she feels that if she did not want me before she is not good enough for me now. My mother thinks that the only reason she would again see me is because of the money."

"I miss her very much, but I don't know what to do. I am sure she still cares for me and would be willing to see me again. Should I try to see her again or not? Please help me, as I am frantic with grief."

As must be apparent from what I have already said, I stand with the mother on this proposition. If this young man were to go to the girl and tell her about his bequest, and she were then willing to take up where they left off three months ago, it seems to me it would indicate clearly that her interest in him depended upon his fortunes.

Does he want a wife whose love would come in like the tide when he had money in his pockets, and go out when he was low in funds? What kind of life would she lead him if the time should come when he was unable to support her in the "manner to which she would like to be accustomed," as the saying goes?

As I see it, this young man would be extremely foolish to let his emotions sweep him off his feet. I feel sure he will be sorry if he does.

Her pet springer spaniel, Topper, is hugged by Carole Kirchner, 7, of Sherman Oaks, Calif., after winning the American Humane society's award as the most heroic dog of the year. When a rattlesnake struck at the little girl while she was playing, Topper lunged in front of his mistress, taking the snake's bite over his eye. Advice to the Lovelorn

DISILLUSION is always hard, of course, but if a man finds out in advance that the girl he hopes to marry is not likely to make him a satisfactory wife, I should think he would thank his "lucky stars." It is much easier and less painful to stay out of marriage than to get out of it.

A young man from whom I have just heard, however, apparently does not consider it a stroke of good fortune to have got this sort of line on his girl's probable success as a wife. Instead of feeling that fate has been kind enough to give him the chance to avoid almost certain matrimonial discord, he is tearing himself to pieces emotionally because he is unable to decide whether or not to thank fate and say goodbye to the girl.

It seems to make as much sense as though he were about to enjoy a delicious-looking drink and someone suddenly told him it would poison him. Instead of pushing it away, he continues to sit in front of it, wondering if he should not perhaps drink it anyhow just because it looks so pretty.

This young man, who is 22, writes me about a 19-year-old girl whom he expected to marry. About three months ago, he says, the girl—who comes from a family in very comfortable circumstances, while his own is not so well off—suddenly told him she did not intend to have anything more to do with him because she couldn't see any future for him in the business world. He works for his father in a small business.

That ended the romance, and the two have not been seeing each other since. And now a queer turn of the wheel of fate has put a new aspect on the situation.

"A month ago, through some miraculous luck," writes the young man, "a very large sum of money was bequeathed to me, enough to give this girl and myself not only money to get married, but for me to go into business on my own. I know I can make her happy on this amount of money."

"My mother tells me not to ask her to come back to me, because she feels that if she did not want me before she is not good enough for me now. My mother thinks that the only reason she would again see me is because of the money."

"I miss her very much, but I don't know what to do. I am sure she still cares for me and would be willing to see me again. Should I try to see her again or not? Please help me, as I am frantic with grief."

As must be apparent from what I have already said, I stand with the mother on this proposition. If this young man were to go to the girl and tell her about his bequest, and she were then willing to take up where they left off three months ago, it seems to me it would indicate clearly that her interest in him depended upon his fortunes.

Does he want a wife whose love would come in like the tide when he had money in his pockets, and go out when he was low in funds? What kind of life would she lead him if the time should come when he was unable to support her in the "manner to which she would like to be accustomed," as the saying goes?

As I see it, this young man would be extremely foolish to let his emotions sweep him off his feet. I feel sure he will be sorry if he does.

Medal for Dog of the Year

Her pet springer spaniel, Topper, is hugged by Carole Kirchner, 7, of Sherman Oaks, Calif., after winning the American Humane society's award as the most heroic dog of the year. When a rattlesnake struck at the little girl while she was playing, Topper lunged in front of his mistress, taking the snake's bite over his eye. The dog was treated with serum and recovered fully in two days.

Stunt Flier Cracks Two Speed Marks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Woodrow W. (Woody) Edmondson, Lynchburg, Va., stunt flier, set his second speed record in three days today when he flew from Havana to Washington in three hours, 15 minutes and 13 seconds. Tuesday he flew from here to the Cuban capital in three hours, 38 minutes.

Edmondson, flying a red, stripped-down P-51, broke the ten-year-old marks established by Major Alexander de Seversky, by wide margins in both instances. On the trip down he clipped about an hour and 20 minutes off the 1937 record and his return flight was one hour,

David Endy, Local Showman, Retires As President of National Association

David Endy, Pottstown's leading son in show business, retired Wednesday night as president of the National Showmen's association before a crowd of 2000 in New York's Commodore hotel.

The proprietor of a railroad carnival show which annually travels over most of the East, Endy, has served a one-year term, the maximum allowed in the organization.

The association helps impoverished members of the trade.

Speaking at the organization's tenth anniversary, the local showman shared the spotlight with such notables as Ed Sullivan, Broadway columnist, and Harold Hoffman, former governor of New York.

Endy's brother, Ralph, was chairman of the banquet committee for the meeting.

In his address, Endy declared his belief that the amusement business is completely free of Communists because "it is based on the practice of democracy and democratic freedom." He urged members of the trade to guard these principles.

Endy and his brother, who was his partner until two years ago, were born in the atmosphere of the carnival, the sons of "Boog" Endy who owned an old-fashioned road carnival.

When their father died in the middle 20s the sons took over the run down show and made it into one of the biggest of its kind in the country.

The brothers got their schooling in Pottstown and the family lived in the Montgomery house.

Both boys in 1921 fled to the Winter. When Summer approaches David starts his show north and Ralph takes over some concessions he owns in New Jersey, although he still owns some of the concessions in the Endy Brothers carnival, as it is still called.

Submarine ridges ring the northern and western Pacific, their crests forming sharp islands as the Aleutians, the Kuriles, Japan and the Ryukus.

Fire Razes Apartments; Four Families Routed

MEDIA, Nov. 27 (AP)—A fire swept through the three-story Shellbourne apartments today, forcing four families into the street and destroying the belongings of two others.

The blaze, which firemen said started in a basement boiler room and spread quickly, turned three apartments at the rear of the building into blackened shells and caused heavy smoke and water damage to three shops at the front of the building.

The flames were leaping through the roof of the frame and stucco building within a few minutes after firemen arrived.

Fire Chief James Aernathy declined to estimate damage, but others placed it in the neighborhood of $35,000. The cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

WORKER RETIRES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Louella M. Moyer, a former Bethlehem Steel corporation clerk at Lebanon, Pa., retired today after 27 years of government service.

Robber Misses Loot After Killing Old Man

Donato "Dan-the-Mooch" Mucci, an aging Italian immigrant - recluse, died of a crushed skull today, apparently victim of a would-be robber who didn't find all his loot.

A few hours after the 67-year-old railroad lamplighter died, police reported finding $509 in cash and deposit books showing a bank total of nearly $25,000 hidden in a coffee can in his littered one-room shack near the railroad tracks.

A section foreman found Mucci yesterday afternoon, a deep wound in his head. He died at 9 a. m. today in St. Francis hospital.

Preliminary investigation, said police, indicated a robber inflicted the wound. Mucci's old-fashioned, snap-top purse, which friends said the lamplighter always carried, was missing.

U. S. marriages totaling 13.2 per 1000 population in 1942 were at the highest rate in the history of the country.

WEST CHESTER WINS, 20-6, IN BURLEY BOWL

Pennsylvania Team Tops Carson-Newman Foe as 10,000 Fans Watch

JOHNSON, CITY, Tenn., Nov. 27 (P)—The West Chester State Teachers college of West Chester, Pa., today defeated Carson-Newman college of Johnson City, Tenn., 20 to 6 in the third annual Burley Bowl football game here.

A crowd of 10,000 saw the Pennsylvanians chase Coach S. B. (Frosty) Host's Eagles all over Memorial stadium, but were halted on several occasions when they faced stubborn resistance in Carson-Newman's yard.

The Rams grabbed the first score early in the second period when they marched from the Eagle 45 to the 13 on a pass from quarterback Wayne Schneider to halfback Paul Willey. Joe Dantonio plunged to the five, John Antoni carried to the two, Joe Carlomagno carried to the one, and Schneider rammed over for the goal. Martin Koons booted the extra point.

Carson-Newman scored late in the second when they recovered a West Chester fumble on the Pennsylvania's 25, and Charlie Moffett flipped a pass to Buster Jennings for the touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked.

West Chester scored its second touchdown in the middle of the third stanza as Paul Willey carried it over from the one, following a sustained drive from the Rams' 45-yard line.

PENN ELEVEN HANDS CORNELL A 21-0 DEFEAT

Red and Blue Takes Advantage of Breaks; Bednarik Is Star

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27 (P)—Pennsylvania's bruising football team smacked down Cornell 21 to 0 today to climax its first unbeaten season in 39 years.

Behind a solid back of 2200 lbs. the Red and Blue air and ground attack, strong enough to overpower six foes and tie Army 7-7, never moved into high gear against the rugged Cornell defenders. But Penn's defenses were good enough to decide the issue.

Led by its 220-pound All-America candidate, center Charley Bednarik, Penn players intercepted six Cornell passes and recovered three of the Big Red's seven fumbles.

Lynn Dorset, 150-pounder from Fairfield, Conn., kept the invaders from above Cayuga's Waters in the game for three quarters with his aerials, but too many of his tosses backfired. Bednarik stole two and one each was intercepted by Farquhar Jones, Harry Edensborn, Art Littleton and Johnny Quinn.

Penn's first touchdown followed Bednarik's initial interception. The big center snatched one of Dorset's tosses on his own 45 and ambled 18 yards to the Cornell 37. Fullback Ray Dooney bucked twice to the seven and Bob Decker smacked off tackle for the score. Eddie Lawless converted the first of three extra points.

Cornell unleashed some fancy razzle dazzle in the second quarter—its strongest stanza—and rumbled 65 yards, using laterals, fake quick kicks and spread formations. But the attack halted on the Penn 19, when Jones, a defensive standout, intercepted a pass.

Walt Krichling punted out and another Dorset aerial went astray on Cornell's first play, Littleton snatching it and lugging to Cornell's 20.

Deuber and Dooney teamed to work the ball to the one-yard line, whence Skippy Minisi hoisted a pass to Littleton in the end zone.

Penn's final score also followed a break as Jerry McCarthy fell on a fumbled lateral on the Cornell 15 early in the last quarter.

Two plays later, Minisi chucked a 14-yarder to reserve end Bob Sponaugle, who went the distance.

DiMaggio Edges Williams For Valuable Player Award

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, star center-fielder of the World Champion New York Yankees, today won the American league's most valuable player award for 1947, by the narrowest possible margin, one slim vote, over Ted Williams, the circuit's batting king.

DiMaggio, who previously had earned the most valuable honors in 1939 and 1941, compiled a total of 202 votes to 201 for the Red Sox slugger outfielder in the vote of the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America for the Kenesaw Mountain Landis Memorial award.

JOE DIMAGGIO

The balloting for third place also was decided by one point, with Lou Boudreau, shortstop-manager of the Cleveland Indians nosing out Joe Page, left-handed relief pitcher of the Yankees, 168 votes to 167.

George Kell, Detroit's fine third baseman, finished fifth with 132 points, and George McQuinn, Cincinnati Yankee first baseman, was sixth with 77 points. Seventh and eighth places went to the Indians' Joe Gordon and Boo Feller, respectively. Gordon, whose splendid work both at bat and in the field following his acquisition from the Yankees, was largely responsible for the Tribe's first division finish, accumulated 59 points, one more than Feller, the league's strikeout king and only 20-game winner, received.

Pitcher Phil Marchildon, 19-game winner of the Philadelphia Athletics was ninth with 47 votes and Luke Appling, ageless shortstop of the Chicago White Sox, was tenth with 43.

In gaining his one-point margin over Williams in the closest race yet since the present system of voting was introduced in 1939, DiMaggio joined Jimmy Fox, former Red Sox and Athletics slugger, as the only three-time winners of the MVP award. He is the fifth Yankee player to be so honored, Babe Ruth winning the award in 1923, Lou Gehrig in 1927 and '36, Joe Gordon in 1942 and Spud Chandler in '43 in addition to DiMagg in '39 and '41.

The Yankee clipper topped the field in first place votes, being named on top in eight ballots. Page was No. 1 man on seven ballots. Williams and McQuinn each drew three first place votes and Eddie Joost led on two ballots. Joost, clutch hitting shortstop of the A.s. landed in 11th place with 32 out of the park.

It was DiMaggio's great team play and courageous work under extreme adverse conditions that caused the writers to lean toward him. The great star, who celebrated his 33rd birthday the past Tuesday who underwent a heel operation during the winter, entered the lineup when things weren't going so well for the Yankees, despite the fact his injured heel had not fully recovered.

His presence in the lineup, not to mention his big bat and fine work in the field, helped brace the entire club and started the Yankees on the victory trail. It was not until after the season ended that it was learned that the courageous athlete had been bothered by an ailing throwing arm that caused him extreme pain whenever he was forced to make a hurried throw in an attempt to head off a base-runner. He recently underwent an operation for the removal of a growth on his right elbow.

Downingtown threatened twice in the third period when the ball was moved twice inside of the Pottstown 20-yard line. An interception of a Downingtown pass halted one drive and the Trojan line stopped the other march.

In the fourth period, the Trojans marched 60-yards before being stopped on the Downingtown 12 yard line by another penalty. Late in the fourth period with the clock showing a minute of playing time remaining in the game, the Whippets took to the air. Two pass completions gained 25-yards, but the game ended before another play could be started with the ball resting on the Pottstown 45-yard line.

Penalties were being stepped off against both teams every few minutes. The Trojans lost 87 yards by penalties while the Whippets were pushed back 65 yards by penalties.

Wildcats Overpower West Pottsgrove Eleven by 24-0

Norco's Team Batdorf Runs For 2 Touchdowns, Passes For Another as 3000 Watch

Tim Batdorf made his final appearance in a North Coventry football uniform a memorable one yesterday afternoon as he led the Wildcats to a 24-0 victory over West Pottsgrove High's Falcons on Franklin Field.

A crowd of 3000 fans saw Batdorf score two of his team's touchdowns, pass for another and set up the fourth score of the afternoon as the Wildcats capped their third straight Thanksgiving Day victory from the Stowe lads.

While Batdorf was showing his wares in the backfield, Wayne Moore was playing a brilliant game in the Norco line. His defensive play was outstanding as he constantly broke through the West Pottsgrove defense to send the all carriers sprawling to the turf.

The Falcons were reported to have been practicing pass defense during the week, but yesterday the Wildcats fooled the Falcons by keeping the puck on the ground for most of the contest.

Following a pass interception in the first period, Batdorf and Bill McCruden slowly advanced the ball deep into West Pottsgrove territory. The drive moved to the Falcon 1-yard line where McCruden bucked over for the six-pointer. Bob Kepner's try for the extra point was not good.

Midway through the second period, the Wildcats took to the air. Batdorf pitched a short aerial to Kepner who dashed 35 yards to register the second Norco touchdown. Again the Norco end failed in his attempt to add the extra point.

Late in the same period, the Wildcats marched 60 yards for another six-pointer. With Batdorf and McCruden again leading the attack, the drive carried to the 2-yard line and Batdorf crushed over just as the half ended. Kepner again missed the extra point.

Scoring came to an end in the third period when the Wildcats marched for their fourth touchdown of the afternoon. The muddy turf failed to stop the onrushing Wildcats eleven as they drove 30 yards to the Falcon goal. This time it was Batdorf again. The Norco fullback climaxed the march by plunging over for the score from two yards out. For the fourth time, Kepner missed the attempted placement.

The Falcons never threatened seriously. The Goheen coached Falcon machine got as far as the Norco 20-yard stripe only to be stopped by the Norco line.

Two West Pottsgrove gridders were injured during the game. Ralph Basile suffered an injury to his ribs and was admitted to Memorial hospital last night. X-rays will be taken of his ribs at the hospital today. Steve Sabo, Falcon fullback, was also admitted to the hospital with a possible fractured finger.

5000 Fans See Royersford Tie Spring City, 7-7

PIRATES DRIVE TO 4-YARD LINE AS GAME ENDS

John Fearheller Runs 60 Yards to Tie Score Late in Final Period

Royersford High's Eagles

battled Spring City High to a 7-7 deadlock before a throng of 5000 fans on the Royersford gridiron yesterday morning, leaving the Twin-Borough Scholastic championship hanging in balance for another year.

The Pirates loomed as the ultimate threat when they battered their way across the Royersford goal line in the second quarter on a line buck by Bill Thorum and an extra point by Pfeiffer, but Johnny Fearheller, target throughout the entire contest for Spring City tacklers, finally got loose for a 60-yard gallop in the last period to bring the Eagles back into the game.

This long jaunt momentarily spurred the Forders on for another offensive, but the drive was checked on an intercepted pass. Spring City, too, threw a runner-spit in the West, pasted the Dodge 21-7 at Brooklyn.

It was the Bears' eighth straight NFL triumph against two defeats and moved them ahead of the Chicago Cardinals in the Western race. The Cards, only other Western division club with a chance to snag the pennant, meet the Giants in New York Sunday.

A shivering 29,446 fans at Detroit cheered as the Lions stood off the Bears for almost the entire first period before Sid Luckman unlimbered his passing arm and spurred the Bears to a 34-0 lead at the end of three periods.

At Los Angeles, again it was a case of too much Otto Graham for a Cleveland opponent. Scoring a touchdown in each quarter, the Browns overcame a 10-0 lead built up by the Dons in the first period and went on to hand the Los Angeles club its seventh setback.

Only 987 fans turned out at Brooklyn to see the Dodgers absorb their ninth defeat in 13 games. The 49ers, got off to a fast 21-0 lead in the first half and then squelched a couple of Brooklyn bids.

Gil Dodds Captures Six-Mile Race Title
CINCINNATI, Nov. 27 (P)—Gilbert Dodds, one of the world's greatest trackmen, today won the 37th annual six-mile cross-country run here for the fourth consecutive time. He was hard pushed all the way by Mike Stavole of Miami University. Dodds, running under the colors of the Wheaton AC of Wheaton, Ill., made the run from near Ft. Thomas, Ky., to the Elks lodge at Fourth street and Lytle park, Cincinnati, in 29 minutes, 44 seconds, just 12 seconds under the course record he established a year ago.

Neiman Leads Boyertown Bears To 12-7 Win Over East Greenville

An interception of an East Greenville pass and a 70-yard touchdown run enabled Boyertown High to defeat the Greensies in their annual Thanksgiving Day game before 2000 fans at East Greenville, 12-7.

Both Boyertown six-pointers were scored in the first period while East Greenville's score came in the second stanza. The offensive attacks of both teams were hampered by a muddy field during the second half.

Dick Neiman, a senior player, led the Bears to victory. He paced the Boyertown attack throughout the entire game. He advanced the ball to the Spring City 38-yard line.

Fearheller was unable to navigate through mud on the next two plays, losing five and then dropping three more. Grater failed to gain, and Fearheller punted to Rentschler on the Spring City 14-yard line.

Dell, Thorum and Ludwick advanced nine yards in three plays, and needing only a yard or less for a first down, Rentschler punted the ball to Ochs, who was downed on his own 40-yard stripe. This proved to be a fatal kick. On the first play, from the Royersford 40-yard line, Fearheller got loose around right end and sprinted the entire distance across the goal line, outdistancing Spring City tacklers on a brilliant run. He also rushed the ball over for the extra point.

Albright Ties Gettysburg in 13-13 Contest

READING, Nov. 27 (P)—Jimmy Maracani, Hazleton sophomore, halfback, led Albright college to a 13-13 tie with favored Gettysburg college here today before 3600 Thanksgiving Day fans.

Maracani carried the ball 30 times for a net gain of 167 yards, caught two passes for 18 yards, scored a touchdown and kicked the extra point that gave Albright its tie in the fourth period.

Gettysburg scored late in the first period when Al Musselman, Hanover halfback, dove over from the six-inch line climaxed a 56-yard drive. Maracani's 15-yard run halfway in the second period gave the hosts a 6-6 deadlock, but five seconds before the half ended, Gettysburg went into the lead again, when Musselman tossed a ten yard pass to Bob Court, Teneck, N. J. sophomore end. Bob Johnson, Succasunna, N. J., converted to give Gettysburg a halftime 13-6 lead.

After a scoreless third period which Albright dominated, Billy Krohn, diminutive halfback from Peckville, slashed over from the one-yard line to end a 79 yard drive, and Maracani converted to tie up the game.

Albright led in the first downs, 16-10, gained 212 yards to Gettysburg's 88 on the ground, and completed nine of 18 passes for 87 yards to Gettysburg's six completions in 16 for 132 yards.

Roger Moyer to Head New Hanover Grange; Wins Over Four Opponents by Big Margin

Roger Moyer was re-elected master of New Hanover Grange by a sizeable majority Wednesday night at a meeting in the grange hall that also saw Mrs. George Smale and Charles Rankin emerge winners in the traditional Farm Products show.

Three-fourths of the 44 members voted for Moyer, with four other men nominated from the floor dividing the balance.

Eleven other officers were re-elected. Those elected for the first time were Mrs. Dorothy Blank, lecturer; William Mest, assistant steward; Harold L. Smale, gatekeeper; Gloria Rightmeyer, lady assistant steward, and Helen Nester, Pomona.

At the Farm Products show following the election, Mrs. George Smale's canned peaches were judged "perfect," which enabled her to score a higher total than Mrs.

Bookkeeper Makes $330,000 'Mistake'

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27 (AP)—The bookkeeper who made that error in the Indianapolis city accounts was no piker. The mistake was for $330,000.

As a result of the error Mayor-elect Al Feeney, a Democrat, will take over a city that is busted on Jan. 1 when the Republican regime goes out.

C. S. Ober, city controller, who announced the error said that Indianapolis has $330,000 less cash on hand than the books show. He blamed "sloppy, haphazard book-keeping" and said no money was missing.

Ober said the city could pay its bills up to the end of the year but would have no cash to start 1948.

Feeney, who will investigate, said he was "surprised."

Nation's Strike Trend Continues Downward

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The labor calm which set in six months ago continued through October, when only 175 strikes involving 60,000 workers began, the government reported today.

This compared with 200 new stoppages in September, affecting 75,000 workers. The downward trend has been in evidence since April, the bureau of labor statistics said.

The Federal mediation and conciliation service said the number of disputes reaching the strike stage definitely had been decreasing since Aug. 22, when the service became an independent agency under the Taft-Hartley act.

NEWSPAPERS PICKETED

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Pickets of the striking AFL Chicago typographical union continued their march before offices of the city's newspapers today.

Although the three afternoon papers did not publish because of the Thanksgiving holiday.
